Dr. W. L. Laidler's success in prescribing bifocals for his patients has been largely due to his thorough consideration of these more delicate elements of the human eyes.

LEGION TO FIX SWIMMING HOLE

Armistice Day Committee Is Named At Meeting Of Post No. 4

Swimming enthusiasts of Fresno may find the old swimming hole at Patterson's on Morris Avenue changed beyond all recognition on the first trip of the season next summer, as the result of a proposal by Frank Leland at a meeting of Fresno Post No. 4, American Legion.

Following his suggestion that the legion take steps to improve the section of the ditch north of the Fresno State College, Leland was appointed chairman of a committee, with Will Kelly and Ray Carlisle as his assistants.

Drill Team Proposed

The formation of a drill team of twenty-four members was proposed by Ray Carlisle.

An Armistice Day committee for 1923 was appointed by Major Z. S. Leland, following a resolution offered by Dr. E. M. Johnston and unanimously approved, as follows:

Resolution Adopted

"Resolved that a committee of five be appointed to act as Armistice Day committee for 1923. The duties of this committee to be to secure the co-operation of the Merchant's Association of Fresno toward placing November 11th each year upon their calendar of holidays and to act in any other capacity that may be necessary between now and that time."

Those placed on the committee were Johnston, chairman, W. S. Ireland, Chaplain F. G. H. Stevens, S. L. Harrington and Neil Cunningham.

Parlor Wink Cup

The silver loving cup offered by the county council of American Legion posts to the post turning out the largest number of members in recognition to its membership, at the Seima celebration was awarded the Parlor Post.

H. J. Simon, grand chef de guerre, Voltaire No. 27 of the Forty and Eight society, Los Angeles, made a short talk on the value of the Forty and Eight as a playground for the Legion.

An entertainment will be held next week in place of the regular business session, with S. Harrington and Judge J. G. Crichton acting as joint chairmen of a committee on arrangements.

Bills Show Dancer Eats Little But Talks Great Deal

BERKELEY (Cal.), Nov. 17.—Eva Burrows Fontaine, dancer, does considerable talking and doesn't eat much, according to reports to the police and the small claims court to-day. Creditors asked officers to find out where she and her son, Sonny, have gone. They want to collect a $132 telephone bill and a $22.97 grocery bill.

School Rifle Team Is Asked To Spokane Shoot

The Fresno high school cadet corps rifle team, accompanied by Major Z. S. Leland, may go to Spokane, Washington, this winter following an invitation from the Spokane high school, if suitable arrangements can be made.

The challenge for a shooting match is something of an honor, according to Major Leland, as the Spokane rifle team is usually one of the runners-up in the national championship matches and was in first place two or three years ago.

The first venue of 130 will probably be exhausted to-day, with only four jurors finally accepted and two tentatively passed.

College Dance Will Feature New Stunts

Unique stunts will be featured at a carnival dance at the State College to-morrow night.

The dance will be given by the associated women students in honor of the Davis Agricultural College football team. The women's athletic association is composed of all the women students, and they have worked hard to make the affair original. There will be dancing for those who wish to dance, and varied amusements for those who seek their recreation in other ways.

The proceeds from the dance will be used to refurbish the students activities room.

'MASSACRE' JURY PROGRESS SLOW

Delay In Securing Men Willing To Sit In Trial Of Accused Men Continues

(By the United Press)

MARION (Ill.), Nov. 17.—Four bailiffs hovered over the jury room of Williamson County to-day seeking "good, honest men" who will qualify for service on the jury to sit in the trial of five men accused of participation in the Herrin mining massacre.

The officers set off from the court with full instructions from Judge Hartwell to keep away from the scene of the slayings and from Herrin in their search for men to make the second panel.

Both the court and attorneys have become dissatisfied with the delay in getting the second panel for the trial. Practically every man questioned is either a minor or has a fixed opinion as to the lawfulness of the killings.

The first venire of 130 will probably be exhausted to-day, with only four jurors finally accepted and two tentatively passed.

From The Critic's Seat

By WILLIAM FOSTER ELLIOT

THE MORGAN DANCERS

One so seldom sees anything on the stage that even approaches perfection, that when such a moment arrives words fail to describe it. It came recently from dance. Yet the Morgan Dancers dance drama, Helen of Troy, which is now at the White-Orpheum, is practically perfect of its kind. And what is more the kind is so much higher and more beautiful than the average vaudeville performance that no ordinary critical patter is adequate to deal with it.

Morgan has taken the old Greek story of Paris and Helen and the siege of Troy, and made it live again. She has done so, not by an attempt to copy slavishly the details of archaic story, but by a daring use of suggestion and symbolism. In its beauty of outline the dance drama is wholly Greek; in its intensity, its rapidity and color, it is modern. Such a synthesis as this is art of the finest kind.

Moreover, the dancers whom she has chosen to interpret her conception are without exception talented and personally beautiful, while their flawless technique shows both inward sympathy with and knowledge of the subject. There are few forms of art-expression so complete as the dance drama. Here are combined sculpture, painting, drama, music and nothing that words can say is capable of adding to their effect. Helen of Troy is full of poignant and almost unforgetable beauty, and is, in this reviewer's opinion, by far the best thing of the sort that has been seen in vaudeville for a decade.

Special mention must for fairness sake be given to Josephine Head for her Egyptian dance and Louise Riker for her perfect in its grotesque and animal abandon. The Menehaus of Charles Haverlin was a fine and kindly figure. But in truth every member of the company excelling in his or her particular bit. And incidentally, the musical setting was also of the best.

The rest of the bill, though fairly good, made no impression in comparison with this dance drama, and so may be briefly chronicled. The Chanton Trio are neorealists (fair); the McCarthy sisters appear with their well-known songs (good); Claudia Coleman gives impersonations (good); Belle Montrose does an amateur actress (fair); and Billy Glason and Gordon and Day both offer a deal of low comedy which might have been amusing if it hadn't followed the Morgan dancers. As it was, the blatant vulgarity of both acts was positively painful to eye and ear.

It is a good thing that vaudeville is back on its feet like the Morgan Dancers once in a while. Such work shows up so plainly the faulty utility of most other acts that some general improvement should result. But whether it does or not, thanks are due every one concerned for giving us, even for one evening, a glimpse of the genuine. And this, too, helps vaudeville.

VASTLY DIFFERENT

(From the Toronto Globe)

A member of an athletic club, after swimming the length of the large tank in the basement of the institution, came out puffing and blowing, apparently exhausted.

"You don't manage your breathing right," said the swimming instructor.

"It ought not to tire you so. As to the upper part of your body, including your arms, you use exactly the same muscles, and in very much the same way, in swimming as in sawing wood."

"No, sir," gasped the swimmer.

"When it comes to sawing wood, I use the muscles of some other man."

REPLY MADE TO REEDLEY CHARGE

Guy Leonard Answers Farm Bureau Allegations in Statement

Answer to charges filed yesterday by George W. Day, president of the Reedley Farm Bureau, and J. P. Morgan, secretary, that the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce compiled and issued misleading information at the expense of the taxpayers of the county, was made in the following signed statement issued today by Guy E. Leonard, secretary of the local chamber:

Preparation Stimulus
"Preparation of material for the bulletin on table grapes was no different than that followed with all other similar bulletins issued by this organization. Our original figures were obtained from publications of the state university and in turn referred to local authorities for verification."

"The table of cost production, which is included in the bulletin, was delivered to this office following such a course. It was not checked and it is very regrettable indeed that some mathematical errors were found. These undoubtedly would have been discovered when the bulletins were finally approved for mailing."

Bulletins Not Distributed
"None of the bulletins have been distributed. The mathematical errors that were discovered will, of course, be corrected. In fact we will submit these figures to Guy E. Reedley and will be very glad to give consideration to him on his own table of cost of production."

"The most regrettable feature of the incident is that Day did not call this matter to the attention of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce immediately on his discovery of the error, but instead saw fit to attempt showing the disposition to improperly expend the taxpayers' money. The error, if it is true, we make every effort to obtain accurate figures and we feel that Day must know the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce would, without hesitation, have made any correction of error."

No. 26—Paneled Walls

A paneled wall is the exception that proves the rule that walls must be either a solid color or a decoration. The paneled wall fills a middle ground between a plain wall and the distinctly decorated wall. The symmetrical arrangement of panels and the relief supplied by the moldings create sufficient interest to satisfy the eye without further embellishment yet, within certain limits, there is plenty of opportunity to hang pictures or other decorations if one wishes. Pictures of course, must be so hung that they neither obscure the defining lines of the panels nor destroy their balance.

A paneled wall need not be an elaborate affair nor a difficult thing to contrive. An ordinary plaster wall can be agreeably paneled by first covering the surface with "decorators" canvas and then making the panels by applying moldings to form divisions of the desired size and shape. The wall is then ready to be painted. There is no end to the variety one may secure in this way.

The moldings necessary may be chosen from the stock of any mill-work establishment and cost only a few cents a foot. Before purchasing it is well first to experiment with short samples held against the wall. The moldings can be applied by any one who can handle a hammer and saw and make a true miter joint.

What's What

By HELEN DECIE

A complete manual might be written concerning "don'ts" for smokers. The careless smoker is a trial to everybody. He scatters tobacco ashes on tables and floors he drops lit cigarette ends on furniture, leaving hopeless stains on the polished surfaces he burns holes in expensive fabrics.

The writer, who is neither a smoker nor an objector to smoking, considers the aroma of a good cigar one of the most pleasantly fragrant of indoor smells. Still, a passerby on the street, who has had a hole burned in his new overcoat because an inconsiderate smoker has just flung a still lighted cigar butt out of the window, cannot be blamed for claiming a more violent sort of incense against the unmanly smoker.

Wherever men are smoking one or more ashtrays should be placed into which the fat ends of cigars or cigarettes may be thrown or the ashes of a pipe may be tapped. It is gross rudeness either to leave the burning ends about or to throw them out of the window unextinguished.

The "tailor" of this well-known milliner is so novel in its artistic arrangement, that you know immediately on entering that only the smartest and most exclusive models would be evolved in such surroundings.

The quaint window seats of her salon are decorated with numerous and original cushions. One window in particular has every shade from bright blue to deep purple, a ball of silver cord forming the base of the arrangement. A Persian red vase completes the color scheme.

Perhaps a hint of all this color is conveyed in the hat at the top of the page, which is of Persian enamel, and continued under the brim. Each loop is lined with pale rose silk.

News From Bay District

Mysterious Case Revealed—The mysterious case of Charles John Swanson, who disappeared from San Francisco again yesterday when the "Masters, Mates and Pilots of the Pacific" filed suit against the Anglo-California Trust Company and Elsie Ann Swanson, executor of Swanson's will. The Mariners' Association demands title to $5,000 in Liberty bonds deposited in the Anglo-California Trust Company. It is asserted that these bonds are part of the $25,000 of the association's funds entrusted to Swanson as trustee and missing when he was found dead at the bottom of an elevator shaft on February 23. The circumstances of Swanson's death, whether suicide, accident or murder, have never been fully solved.

Household Found Turk—Mrs. Maurice Maltz believed herself married to an American citizen and a hero of the world war. The marriage was annulled yesterday by Judge Cabanis at San Francisco on testimony that Maltz was a citizen of Turkey and had registered for the draft as an alien enemy. Mrs. Maltz asserted that Maltz represented himself as an American army officer who had fought in France. On Decoration Day she said, "I had no idea Maltz was not a citizen of the United States until he was arrested in a parade with other ex-soldiers. Then, according to the wife, Maltz confessed that he had never been in the American army and that he was a subject of the Sultan."

Summons Heads Drive—Announcement was made yesterday by A. B. C. Delaney, chairman of the Community Chest, that Charles A. Simmons has been selected as manager of the campaign to raise a city-wide fund for the relief of the unemployed. Simmons is a well-known philanthropist and has been active in the Community Chest, which includes practically all the agencies for philanthropic and welfare work.

Battle For Play—The S. S. Tenacity refuses to let go at the University of California without a struggle for recognition of its artistic value. Fighting to Mrs. C. C. Boynton, the mothers and the regents who have found the play improper, Prof. Mathurin Donato of the French department says that the naming of this drama is for the maintenance of all organizations affiliated with the Community Chest, which includes practically all the agencies for philanthropic and welfare work.

Maneuvered Sought—The navy morale officers of Twelfth Naval District headquarters are looking for a maneuverer passing under the name of Lieutenant Commander Felixotto Lieberman, and posing as a chief of staff of the navy. Lieberman is said to wear the uniform of a navy officer and the Victoria cross, as well as the American Congress.

Benefit Program At Parlor Lecture Club

A benefit entertainment for the Jewish Benevolent Society will be given at the Parlor Lecture Club next Wednesday evening. The committee in charge consists of Nat Cohen, William Meyers, Leo Rumbelburg and S. T. Pudlin.

A drive for Fresno's quota toward the work of the Jewish committee for personal service in state institutions was launched last night and a local committee, Sam Davidson, Sidney Key, Saul Samuel, Louis Slater and Ben Turi, was appointed to work under the direction of Dr. Martin A. Meyer of San Francisco. Rehearsals for the annual Hanukkah (feast of lights) play will begin Sunday morning, under the direction of J. J. Litzenstein. The play is called "Pictures of the Past" and will present the theme of the story of the Maccabees.

Major is Injured—As a result of their machine overturning, sharp curves on the slippery asphalt road through the woods at Fort Winfield Scott, Major T. J. Cecil, C. A. C., and his wife were received at Letterman General Hospital yesterday morning. Major Cecil was suffering from a broken knee and Mrs. Cecil had sustained a broken nose. Both had received minor bruises and cuts. Major and Mrs. Cecil arrived in San Francisco from Manila Saturday on the army transport Logan, and he reported several days ago for duty at Fort Scott.

Raid To Continue—United States military authorities at the Presidio, San Francisco, who have already gathered additional evidence against the thirty bootlegging places raided three days ago by army and federal prohibition officials near the post, are to continue the fight until they have been closed for a year, according to official army documents issued yesterday by Major Frederick D. Griffith, Jr., corps area intelligence officer.

Large Alimony Demand—One of the largest alimony demands that the San Francisco courts have received in months was contained yesterday in the divorce suit of Mrs. Martha Wieland against Emil J. Wieland, vice president of Wieland Brothers, wholesale grocery, importers and exporters. Mrs. Wieland asks for $1,500 a month and asserts that her husband is worth nearly a million dollars.

Officer Suspended—Police Corporal Thomas J. Sullivan of San Francisco was suspended yesterday by Chief O'Brien on complaint of Captain Charles Goff, commander of the Charles district. "Conduct unbecoming an officer" and charges of accepting bribes are set forth in Captain Goff's complaint. Sullivan must stand trial before the police commission.

Thanksgiving Program Arranged—A big Thanksgiving Day program in Jinks Hall in the Elks Building, and a special annual ball and supper to be held December 5th at the Fairmont Hotel, are the two features which will culminate the features of their year's social program. The Thanksgiving festivities will include a two-hour turkey dinner and a "cavalcade" show, and the annual ball will close with a grand supper in the main dining room of the Fairmont.

Patent Escapes—Impelled to flight by an irresistible impulse, Mrs. H. C. Brackett, mental patient in the Livermore Sanitarium, yesterday drove away in her husband's automobile while he was making purchases in a Livermore store. Police of the San Francisco Bay cities were asked to search for the woman, but no trace of her had been found last night.

Street To Be Playground For Visalia Youngsters

VISALIA (Tulare Co.), Nov. 17.—Playground kiddies of Visalia are to have two hours of roller skating pleasure each day after school on South Garden Street will be roped off for a block alongside the Washington Playgrounds, and the fun will be directed by the community service and the playground supervisors.

Games and contests of all kinds will be enjoyed during the afternoon. O'LEARY FUNERAL IS HELD—Funeral services for Timothy J. O'Leary were held yesterday afternoon at the Stephens and Bean chapel, with Dean G. R. E. McDonaid of St. James' Pro-Cathedral officiating, and under the auspices of the United Spanish War Veterans, General Jacob H. Smith Camp, No. 6, of which he was once commander. Pallbearers were from Nantua Camp, No. 10, of the same organization. The service was sung by Miss Leah Thomas and Mrs. F. H. Connolly. O'Leary died last Sunday in Los Angeles.

The Fountain of Youth

Did you ever ride in a street car with someone near by carrying home a bag of ground coffee? The wonderful aroma that it gave off made you hungry for a cup of it too. That was the flavor, the real life of the coffee passing into the atmosphere. Think of it, paying a good price to get a quality coffee and then losing much of what you pay for—flavor—simply because it is not packed right.

When you buy Hills Bros. Coffee you receive all the strength and aroma that was in the original coffee, for the Vacuum Process originated by Hills Bros. keeps all the flavor in. This Vacuum Process is a figurative "Fountain of Youth" for coffee packed by the method retains its original freshness and flavor for an indefinite period. There is nothing magic about the method, on the contrary, it is quite simple.

Coffee becomes stale on account of the oxygen in the air oxidizing the essential elements that give coffee its delicious flavor. Under the Vacuum Process the coffee is packed in air-tight cans from which the air is withdrawn—preventing all deterioration. Hills Bros. originated and use this method as it insures the purchaser of receiving the fine, rare coffee of which "Red Can" is composed, in as perfect and fresh condition as when leaving roaster.

The Deductions of Harvey Hunt

by PHILIP FRANCIS NOWLAN
(Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Co.)

Harvey Hunt argued that the "The Substitute Rings" counted on the possibility that the thief would be discovered when Mrs. Wallis went back for her ring, and that when she saw Mrs. Wallis without any apparent reason, she would experience a reaction of relief after anxiety which she would not be able to conceal from a person watching particularly for it.

If she were an experienced criminal this might not be the case. Harvey Hunt was convinced that she was not, both from Mrs. Wallis' statement as to the social standing of her guests and from the fact that the thief had bungled the job in not obtaining the exact size of the ring and in neglecting the inscription when she had the substitute made.

He made it a point to watch each woman in turn as Mrs. Wallis passed among her guests. It was natural also that an amateur thief should confess upon accusation, and agree to return the ring in exchange for immunity.

Can you explain them—CATS PRINTS

"Here's a set of fingerprints you won't find in the police files," Harvey Hunt took a photograph out of the folder and tossed it across the table to his friend.

"Where's that?" asked the point.

"Hunt?" asked the point.

"Hunt?" asked the point.

"Hunt?" asked the point.

and showed me the cat prints on the polished table. The police detectives, he said, had laughed at him.

"There never has been a cat in this house," Mr. Hunt, he told me, "that is, not to my knowledge. I never have allowed a cat around the place."

"That set me thinking about Red Schotter at once. I saw a chance to create a sensation by convicting a man on the strength of his cat's footprints. At least I did until I made a microscopic examination of the prints and made this enlarged photograph of them."

"There was something peculiar about those cat prints. They didn't seem quite right. From my measurement of distances it seemed as though a cat large enough to take as long steps as this one ought to have bigger feet. Then there was this funny little mark—see here—on this fourth impression, just behind the heel (I suppose you'd call it a heel), a little straight mark, shading off toward the front.

"I made it a point to hunt up row."

Schotter right away. He was sore when I told him what I suspected and why. We compared the photograph with the cat's feet, and found the whorls and loops the same. But Schotter established a complete alibi for the animal. It hadn't been out of his rooms for weeks, and the only person who had visited him there recently was Silk Mangold.

"I was going to tell the police about it in the morning, but that night they arrested Mangold, anyhow, so I didn't bother. His trial and conviction were not sensational, except for the flood of profanity on his part which flowed all through it and earned him an extra year and the fact that the cat prints were not mentioned at all, and he did not dare mention them himself."

Can you deduce, as Harvey Hunt did, how and why the cat's foot prints came to be on the Turney table?

The answer will appear tomorrow.

THREE COUNTIES HONORED TO-DAY AT DAIRY SHOW

Competition Keen For Next
Display; Council Meet
Is Important

Delegations from Kern, Tulare and Sacramento Counties are having their day at the Pacific Slope Dairy Show in the Fresno Auditorium today.

Led by Visalia boosters, who arrived this morning in a fleet of automobiles, the Tulare County people are campaigning to have the show held in their county next year. Sacramento is another competitor, with Modesto, Oakland and San Francisco. The Visalia Commercial Club and the Visalia Chamber of Commerce have been particularly active in organizing the drive to take the show and its attendant conventions to Tulare County.

The Visalians are putting on a program of entertainment at the show this afternoon.

The Dairy Council meets this afternoon. Dairy Council's third annual convention, held at the auditorium, was one of the most important meetings in the history of the organization.

Secretary-Manager Sam H. Green of San Francisco read a report on the year's activities, a discussion of the location for the coming annual meeting, and various pertinent problems of the dairy industry were brought before the organization.

Dr. Carl L. Alaberg, director of the food research institute of Stanford University spoke on the purpose of the food research institute. He told of the interesting experiments being conducted, including the value to farmers at the various university experimental stations.

Quality Emphasized
O. F. Hunsaker of Chicago gave an address on the necessity for greater attention to quality. Quality, he said, is the essential factor in the industry, and urged all concerns engaged in the dairy business to keep the standard at the highest point possible.

Thomas E. Hunt, dean of the College of Agriculture of the University of California, was one of the speakers of the session.

B. H. Davis, formerly of the Federal Department of Agriculture, discussed the activities of the California Dairy Council and urged dairy support in its behalf.

One of the most important features of yesterday's entertainment was the program by King's County, which included a band concert, songs, piano solos, and impersonations.

The program was as follows:
Kings County dairy march.....
Ferguson's Saxophone Band
Soprano solo, Chastina.....
Mrs. A. St. Simon
Mrs. J. H. Styles at the piano
Baritone solo, Laugh and the world laughs with you.....
Harry Bierbaum
Soprano solo, selected.....
W. C. Snyder
Soprano solo, selected.....
Miss Lucile Fox
Mrs. E. Horlock at the piano
Fox trot.....
Ferguson's Saxophone Band
The Real McKays.....
Impersonation of Harry Gauder
Mrs. Clara Goldwater at the piano
Cap In Awarded

Giving of a cup by Don R. Walker representing the Fresno Republic, donor of the trophy, to George Wolf of San Joaquin County for the best county exhibit, followed the Kings County program.

A satirical funeral oration by Sam H. Green was spoken over the dead carcass of the screw bull whose execution took place following the show.

Man Threatens To Burn Up Earth If Jailed

Accused Firebug Declares He Has But To Toss Stone Into Sky To Start Fire

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—John Sorrenti, held by the Stanton Avenue police on wholesale charges of arson, is going to set the earth on fire if he is sent to jail, he told his captors.

He displayed a small stone, on the side of which a star had been scratched. By throwing that stone into the sky he can knock down a star and burn up the planet, he said.

Sorrenti is to be sent to the psychopathic laboratory of the municipal court for observation.

Sergeant John Mangin of the Maxwell Street Station has identified Sorrenti as the man he arrested three years ago on a charge of setting fire to a pile of waste paper on a porch at 209 West Twenty-fifth Place. At that time Sorrenti was sent to the psychopathic hospital, but the police sergeant did not know what conclusion, if any, was reached as to his sanity. According to Fire Attorney High, the man is suspected of setting thirty-three fires in the Stanton Avenue district, including an apartment house blaze in which a young woman was burned to death.

DOCTORS DISCUSS TUBERCULOSIS

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—Tuberculosis positively can be cured, according to Dr. F. M. Pottinger, of Monrovia, Calif., who last night addressed more than 100 members of the Philadelphia Clinical Society at a meeting in Thompson Hall, College of Physicians, 15 South Twenty-second street.

"The fatty does not seem to have grasped this fact," Doctor Pottinger said. "The majority of persons seem to have the idea that the disease is incurable, and because of this they are much worried, and worry only deters the cure."

ing the trial which concluded the afternoon's performance.

The Klwanian Club, which presented a watch to Dr. C. L. Roadhouse, manager of the show, by a representative of the Pacific Slope Show executive board, were also featured of the afternoon's entertainment.

Athletic Stunts A Feature
A drill, athletics stunts, boxing matches put on by members of the junior division of the Y. M. C. A. were held before large crowds in the evening.

A banquet is to be given to-night by the dairy manufacturers and supply men in honor of the California Creamery Operators' Association. Harry Hofius of San Francisco will preside.

The creamery operators opened this morning their twenty-third annual convention. City Comptroller Glenn De Vore welcomed the delegates for Mayor Truman G. Hart, who is in San Francisco. A. Jensen of Los Angeles spoke on "Marketing Surplus Butter."

This afternoon the delegates will hold another business session, at which J. J. Frey of the state department of agriculture, C. L. Mitchell of Los Angeles and E. Gray of San Francisco are scheduled to speak. This evening O. F. Hunsaker is to talk on butter making. The convention will close to-morrow with another morning business meeting.

Fresno County day is scheduled for to-morrow, and many novel surprises are promised.

Dancing in the evening is expected to attract a large crowd of merry-makers.

MISS MINNIE LOUIE, left, and Miss Flora Bello Jan, examples of the adoption of American dress and customs, by Chinese girls, who are the counterparts of their American flapper cousins.

Chinese Girls Follow Precepts For Flappers

THE WISDOM OF OUR ANCESTORS is no longer a power in the lives of Fresno's Chinese girls.

They are walking away from the ancient order with their heads up, their eyes flashing and no regrets.

Such is the influence of American example and American high schools, and their alert, meditative fathers do not know whether to oppose this freedom and run the danger of fanning stray sparks into a fire that might spread, or quietly to let the girls go the new way and see what comes.

Danger Is Greater
The Chinese flapper is more dangerous, more intriguing, more lovely in her Oriental independence than any flapper the modern world knows.

To begin with, it is a new idea with her, this idea of the individual choosing her own life regardless of her parents, her race or her carefully handed down traditions. For this very reason her ventures into flapperism are hesitating, timid little flutterings of untutored wings quite charming to behold.

Her methods do not differ from those of the American flapper. As they would say, her "technique" is over lived and the whims of his fair girl-child are granted with the same smiling acquiescence and badly concealed pride found in all well regulated families.

Young Men Oppose Change
It is the young Chinese man who would check flapperism if he can. He would rather play alone or in small groups of his own kind. The girls of China Alley say quite frankly, and they also declare to not, that they don't care. But they do, and on this ground the battle rages.

Miss Flora Bello Jan, an emancipated Chinese flapper with aspirations to be a newspaper woman, graciously introduced me to her friend, Miss Minnie Louie, in the Chinese home of her father. Father was conveniently absent. The two girls had much to say about Chinese boys and their general impossibility. One was reminded of a bit of Kipling, that hit about "The Colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady are sisters under their skins." For the expressions in this little Chinese room, with its lot of pictures and odors of pictures of ancestors and odors of incense, differed very little from opinions often heard among white girls, "that boys are just awful."

Miss Louie, with her skin and her alluring tiny jade earrings, and with an eager light in her eyes, spoke of going to China. She is planning to teach her own countrywomen how to live as she has learned in America, but, incidentally, with this great humanitarian program, Miss Louie shyly admits she is going to shop for fine silks in a land where they have the finest. Not that she is the slave of Canton silk with which to deck herself, for this lotus-eyed maiden is a flower of fragrant loveliness.

The first accomplishment of a flapper, that of unbridled decoration, was an art perfected in her land long before the court beauties of Spain sent Columbus on his fruitless errand.

Dancing Their Delight
Dancing is the low light of these dainty adventures into the

REPEATS CHARGE MEN ARE FAVORED

Fair Play Asked For Women
In Government
Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Criticism of alleged discrimination against women in the government service was reiterated by the Government Workers' Council of the National Woman's Party in a letter from Miss Laura M. Berrien, acting chairman of the council, to Mrs. Helen Gardner, member of the Civil Service Commission, made public today.

The letter, which is in reply to published interviews with Mrs. Gardner, minimizing the charges made recently by the council points out that the criticisms of the Government Workers' Council are "not directed at any individual member of the Civil Service Commission," and states that the council believes her of the council will be in full sympathy with the effort of civil service women to secure equal rights.

Single Register Asked
There is no decided discrimination against women in the Civil Service Commission," Miss Berrien states. "That lies in the practice of keeping double registers for men and women eligible to the same positions. Because of these registers, new examinations are often held when the register for men is exhausted, although the women's register for the same sort of positions may still contain many eligible names. We ask as the first plank in our platform that the commission keep a single register of men and women from which appointments may be made in the order of rating, regardless of sex, and that no new register shall be opened until the previous register is exhausted."

It is declared that a great mass of information being constantly supplemented by government workers themselves points to consistent discrimination against women in many departments, not only in appointment, but also in promotion and in salary.

Full Equality Demanded
Reclassification measures, according to Miss Berrien, should be based upon "full equality of opportunity between men and women in all branches of the service." She adds that "a very discouraging feature of the reclassification movement is the fact that on the departmental boards being established in preparation for the carrying out of reclassification measures women have almost no representation. This is directly contrary to the theory of equal opportunity."

Sahara Desert Will Be Filmed By Briton

LONDON, Nov. 17.—An Englishman, Mr. Gravelle, will make his fourth attempt to complete a film of the Sahara Desert. Nine white men already have lost their lives in previous attempts to reach Lagos, British West Africa, from Algiers, a trip he will essay.

It is planned this time to start from Lagos and make for Zinder, 600 miles away. After they have left Zinder they will be cut off from civilization.

domain of flapperdom. They speak of it with a light in their eyes and a gentle tapping of their small feet, and one watching can instantly picture the gaiety of the exhibit at a dancing party. One wonders how the American flappers have a chance.

There grows another thorn in the Chinese garden of flapperdom. The boys are slowly, with a truly exasperating deliberation, deciding whether they care to learn to dance, or amuse themselves in other ways far away from the maddening girls, an unappealing custom of Chinese masculinity since the dawn of time. Thereby hangs the weight of happiness for the Chinese flapper, and with the assumption of the ways of the white girls she has that the worst enemy of her own race. Storms are the result.

A group of young Chinese has banded together in a Students' Club in which both the Chinese boys and girls take an active part. The girls express their ideas of dances and entertainments and the boys listen with that implacable calm of the Oriental male and proceed to do exactly as they please.

Just Like American Girls
Questioned as to the attitude of the fathers in Chinese Alley, who sit outside their shops in monumental calm, outwardly unperturbed by their daughters' discontent, the girls replied, "Oh, we do just the same as the American girls. We take off our shoes and creep quietly up the stairs, when the hour is too late to tell."

There is one mark of the independent women of other races which the Chinese maidens have not acquired. It is that of the cigarette. Smoke rings have no charm for them. The busy world of worshipful incense is enough for them, and they do not even try smoking for a lark. They all believe in prohibition, too. Drinking as they see it among the white people who visit in the various states of imbecility has left an ineffaceable impression.

Our little party strolled up to the Chinese picture show, where the cowboy triumphs in the office of this home of blood and thunder.

DIG FIVE MERGER PLANS TO RESULT IN TWO NEW UNITS

Realignment Of Packers Aim Of Negotiations Now Being Conducted

(By the United Press)
CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Alignment of the five packers into two great units, one headed by J. Ogden Armour and the other by Louis F. Swift, is the object of the present merger negotiations among the packers. It was learned from authoritative sources today.

The present scheme is for Armour to purchase Morris & Company outright and then resume negotiations to buy the Wilson Packing Company. Previous efforts of Armour to buy Wilson's plant were blocked by objection of Morris.

The packers' agreement provides that no two companies may be merged if any one of the big five objects. Morris, fearing the domination of Armour, protested the combination with Wilson, and now Armour is seeking to buy the Swift interests in order to clear the way for the Wilson deal.

That Swift will purchase the Cudahy Company in case the Armour-Wilson-Morris combine is effected is generally understood in packing circles.

PHILLIPS LAWYER PLANNING APPEAL

lar—a purely technical objection. It is understood that the appeal would be taken.

But Clara had as much reason to be satisfied with the verdict as disappointed. Another jury could, as she suggested, proceed to the death penalty. On the other hand, the second degree sentence does not permit her to place application for parole until ten years from the time she starts serving time, while a parole in the first degree life sentence may be granted after the first year.

Peggy Caffee's Part
The question of the part Peggy Caffee, state witness, had in the affair was responsible for the forced compromise in the jury. It was revealed today.

Foreman J. McSwain said that the four men who refused to vote for hanging thought that Peggy Caffee had a hand in the murder and held out for manslaughter on that ground.

Miss Caffee, who has been in technical custody, was released yesterday.

She seems the only person against whom Mrs. Phillips bears malice.

"Peggy will suffer the longest day that she lives for the story she told about me," Clara cried to interviewers.

Fresno Residents Are Appreciative Of Work Of The Local Y. M. C. A.

An appreciation on the part of Fresno residents of the enterprise which the Y. M. C. A. represents, will make it easy for the members of the financial campaign force to secure the necessary $25,000, when they start the four-day drive next Tuesday, says Secretary George A. Forbes.

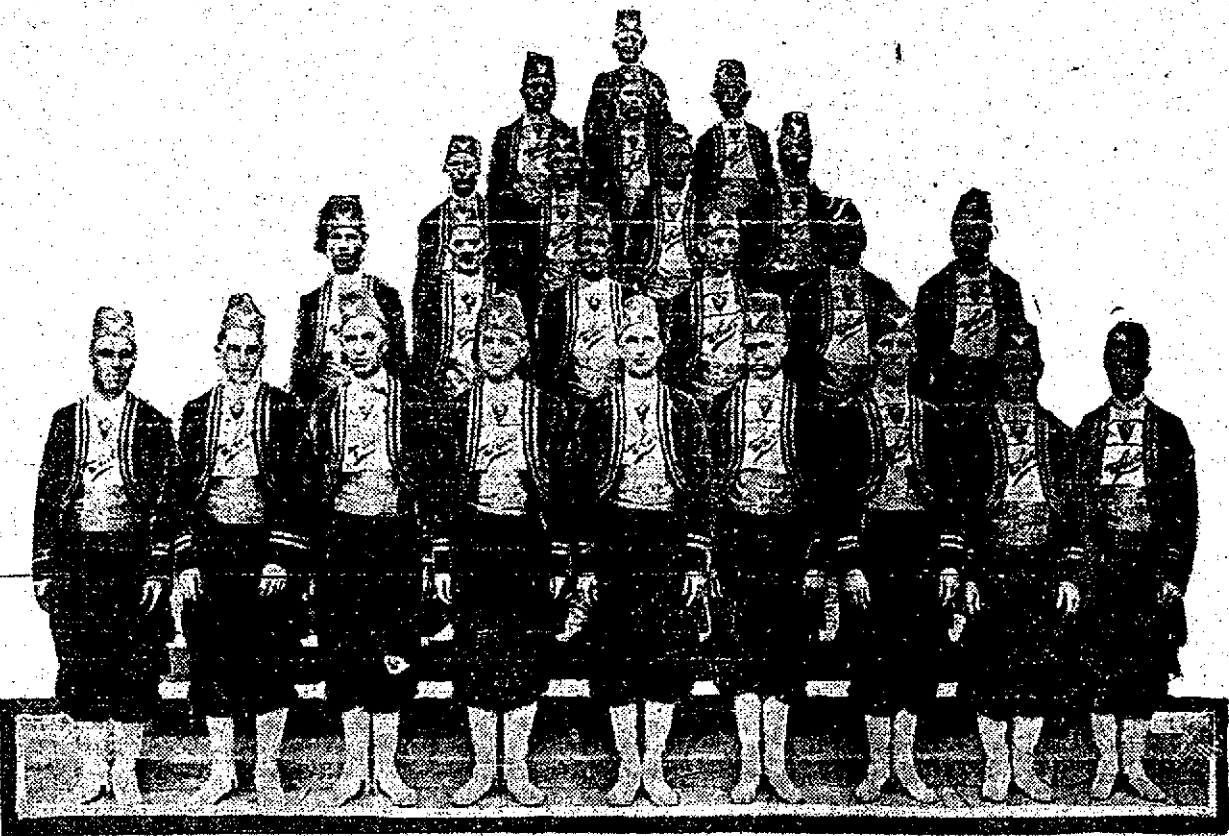

One of the accomplishments on which the association prides itself most, says Forbes, is its ability through its employment section to find jobs for boys just commencing to earn their living or newcomers in Fresno.

Letters from grateful youths who have found positions here through the Y. M. C. A. are included nearly every day in the mail.

This alone is enough, Forbes declared, to earn the support of the business men of Fresno. Counting those who have secured rooms, jobs and advice, at least 10,000 youths have been helped materially by the Y. M. C. A. in the past year.

The three division majors, H. W. Shields, Fred Donnelly and E. O. Hughes met last night to go over plans for the campaign and have their reports ready for a general meeting at noon today.

FRESNO'S Scioto Lybian Guard that will leave with this city's delegation to-night for the supreme pyramid gathering at Sacramento. With Fresno's prize-winning band, the guard, led by Major Ed. Jones, is expected to cut a wide swath in the capital city.

U. S. GRAIN ACT UPHELD BY COURT

Petition For Order Restraining Enforcement Is Dismissed At Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Judge George A. Carpenter, in federal court today, dismissed the petition of the Chicago Board of Trade for a permanent order restraining the enforcement of the law preventing trading in grain futures. At the same time he continued in force a temporary order preventing enforcement of the act pending appeal to the supreme court.

The judge's ruling was made after a hearing of a few minutes, in order to rush the case to the higher court.

In continuing the stay order Judge Carpenter explained that such a course was followed in the interest of all those affected, and this was considered the shortest course to the supreme court.

The court also denied the application of the American Farm Bureau Federation to intervene in the case as a defendant.

The court also granted the board of trade an appeal to the supreme court.

TEN ARE DROWNED AS BOAT SINKS

OGDENSBURG (N. Y.), Nov. 17.—Ten persons, employees of the Ontario Paper Company, were drowned in Pittern Lake near Shelter Bay, below Quebec, early Tuesday morning, according to reports reaching here today.

The party left the head of the lake to a motor boat Monday night for the paper company's plant and when they did not arrive Tuesday morning a tug was sent in search of them.

The launch was found with a hole in her bow, the result of a collision with ice floes. Various articles of clothing were found on the surface of the water.

Dismissal Of I. W. W. Cases Asked In Court

on large card boards, and by running his fingers lightly over the cards he read his argument fully as rapidly and ably as he could have done from a printed page with seeing eyes.

Henderson charged that the indictments were insufficient, indefinite and very confusing. He said that this applied to each of the four counts in the indictments, which are:

1. Organizing the I. W. W.
2. Assisting to organize it.
3. Knowingly becoming members of it.
4. Remaining members of it.

The blind attorney in his argument made a plea for the right of labor to protect itself against capitalism. He said that no overt acts had been proved against the I. W. W. organization in the state of California since 1919, and that no court in this country had ever held that a strike of labor, in itself, is unlawful.

Discussion Deferred
Carling argued that at a hearing on demurrer it was not the time to discuss sentiment or the merits or otherwise of the I. W. W. organization, but that it was a time solely to argue points of law.

The three men were indicted here on November 1st, charged with "criminal syndicalism." The term "criminal syndicalism" is defined as "any doctrine or precept, advocating, tending or aiding and abetting the cause of crime, sabotage, or unlawful acts of force and violence or unlawful methods of terrorism as a means of accomplishing a change in industrial situations or intending or effecting any political change."

PROPERTY BOUGHT
One hundred feet in the 600 block on Van Ness Avenue, owned by W. F. Elliott and C. H. Sayre, has been bought by Mrs. N. Dixie of Dinuba. It is understood that the property was purchased as an investment. The property has a depth of 150 feet, and is now occupied by a two-story building and two one-story buildings.

FRESNO WOMAN DIES
Mrs. Mary Ann Dixon, widow of Thomas Dixon, died last night at the home of her son, T. T. Dixon, 2010 Hazelwood Boulevard. She was 78 years old and a native of Missouri. For the past thirty-two years she had made her home in California. Besides her son she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Emily Elizabeth Mathews. Funeral services will be arranged by Stephens and Bean and announced later.

Fresno Scioto Band Off To Capture First Award

THE FRESNO SCIOTO band leaves Fresno to-night for the Supreme Pyramid sessions in Sacramento, sharing the confidence of Grant Falkenstein, its leader, that the first prize silver trophy cup, won last year in a contest with Scioto bands from all over the state, will remain in its possession.

Falkenstein believes that the organization which six months after its inception was able to defeat older institutions will be invincible with a year's assiduous practice back of it and the addition of fifteen new members.

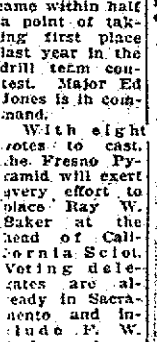

The specially chartered train which will carry San Joaquin Valley Scioto to Sacramento leaves the Southern Pacific station at 8 o'clock to-night. Besides the band, the train will carry the Lybian Guard of Pyramid No. 10, which came within half a point of taking first place last year in the drill team contest. Major Ed. Jones is in command.

F. W. Decker

With eight votes to cast, the Fresno Pyramid will exert every effort to place Ray W. Baker at the head of California Scioto. Working delegates are already in Sacramento and include P. W. Decker, armorer; Milton H. Jones, treasurer; William Stranahan, toparch; Floyd C. Lynn, scribe; W. P. Northway, purchasing agent; C. W. Wakefield, past toparch; and Ray W. Baker, past toparch.

The Fresno Scioto band, now including fifty members besides Bert Fuller, drum major, has become famous all over the United States. Its fame has even reached into Canada.

M. H. Passons

No change in plans was made by the Fresno Scioto band at a special meeting last night and all idea of giving brief concerts at stop-overs on the way to Sacramento to-night was abandoned.

The train will carry the wives and families of the band and drill team as well as a number of other Sciotos. It will stop in Merced and Modesto to pick up Sciotos from those cities.

"They'll know we're there," declares Falkenstein.

band received a tremendous reception, that members became generally enthused and turned out for regular practice every Thursday night without urging. Last Summer when it was proposed to discontinue practice, it was voted to keep right on and all through July and August an attendance of between twenty and thirty was maintained.

Big Future For Band
That it has become one of the recognized bands of the country is evidenced, Falkenstein says, by the numerous letters which reach his hands from all over the United States. The writers want to join the band and ask Falkenstein to try and secure positions for them in the business concerns of the city. Several have followed up their letters and have come to Fresno.

The competitive drill and band contest takes place tomorrow night at 8 o'clock.

The train will carry the wives and families of the band and drill team as well as a number of other Sciotos. It will stop in Merced and Modesto to pick up Sciotos from those cities.

"They'll know we're there," declares Falkenstein.

Judge's Way Of Punishing Speeders Meets Approval

(Copyright 1922 by The United Press)
THE Detroit plan of punishing speeders and reckless drivers by making them look at maimed children and at bodies of automobile victims met with hearty endorsement to-day from traffic court judges and other officials in many representative cities of the country. The idea of inflicting this mental torture originated by Judge Charles L. Bartlett of Detroit, will soon be put into effect in other communities where the speed menace has become a grave problem, according to statements gathered by the United Press.

IDEA HELD EXCELLENT
OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.), Nov. 17.—Chief of Police Clark said Judge Bartlett's idea was excellent and that Oklahoma City speeders would be subjected to similar punishment.

HAD RIGHT THING
MILWAUKEE, Nov. 17.—Sergeant A. J. Murray, head of the police traffic department, said Judge Bartlett did the right thing. Murray believes many parents should be punished similarly for letting children run carelessly about the streets.

BETTER THAN FINING
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Municipal Judge Robert J. Mattingly: "An excellent idea. Much better than fining."

HAS SALUTARY EFFECT
BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The sight of crippled and maimed children undoubtedly would have a salutary effect on reckless automobile drivers.

S. F. WAGE BOARD IS REPUDIATED HOUSE NUMBERS MAY BE REVISED FRUIT MEN WILL DISCUSS NEEDS

Carpenters Refuse To Recognize Rights Of Body; Others Will Follow

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—General repudiation by the Building Trades Council and affiliated groups about the bay, of the Industrial Association's "Impartial wage board" is expected following the action of the Bay Counties Council of Carpenters in repudiating the recognition of the wage board to be denied, union leaders declare.

A letter sent by the carpenters' council to Charles E. Michael, one of the members of the wage board, declares that while the union organization has always believed in industrial peace, it "denies the right of any man or men to determine wages except the men who employ us, and then only by mutual consent."

Continuing the letter declares: "We did not delegate the right to you. A great majority of our employers have no connection or sympathy with the men who did appoint you."

"We have not requested or been a party to requesting the meeting of any so-called impartial wage board to establish a wage scale for our members on and after December 31, 1922, or at any other time, and so far as we can learn the only ones who are interested in such a meeting are the people who appointed you last year, namely, the Industrial Association of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce."

BILL TO EXEMPT SMALL HOMES FROM TAXATION
SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—A bill to exempt from taxation small houses up to $2,000 will be brought before the state legislature when it convenes in January, Assemblyman Wm. Hornblower of San Francisco said today.

of consecutive numbering from one end of the street to the other, but some of them are in favor of dividing each street at some central point in the business section and having the numbering consecutive from that point on all streets, north, south, east and west, thus placing this city's system on a par with that of most other municipalities of its class in the country.

Proposal Favored.
Louis Gundelfinger, member of the Fresno Planning Commission, one of the city's strongest boosters for a bigger and better Fresno, this morning said that he strongly favored the renumbering project, and that he believed that it would relieve present confusion and that in the future, as the city continues to grow, it would prove a great help to the city generally. Others who expressed opinions on the question this morning, and their statements are:

J. C. Phelan: The suggestion for renumbering and renaming streets is a very good one, and I believe it would go a long way toward eliminating the confusion that now exists. I am strongly in favor of it.

George F. Shapp: The renumbering plan as proposed on Van Ness Avenue should be used as an entering wedge in a general revision of street naming and numbering in Fresno. It is badly needed and would be a good thing for old residents as well as strangers. It would solve a good many knotty problems that undoubtedly will arise as the city continues to grow.

C. G. Brady: The situation could not be any worse than it is now, and I'm in favor of any plan that will eliminate the present condition of affairs. We people who live and have our places of business on the North Van Ness Avenue are continuously bothered by persons who are trying to find numbers on some other part of the street.

E. J. McElroy: The situation in Fresno with regard to street numbering and numbering is such that when one tries to direct a stranger to an address, it appears to the stranger that one has very little intelligence. This is a fact because of the way the city's streets are named and numbered, and I believe something should be done immediately to remedy present conditions. It will grow worse as the city grows and in order to prevent even greater confusion something should be done immediately to remedy conditions.

Conference Called For Next Month To Consider Means Of Averting Loss

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 17.—Threatened with heavy losses next year unless adequate transportation facilities can be devised to move their crops, California fruit growers and shippers will hold a conference in this city December 12th, 13th and 14th, to discuss ways and means of solving the problem.

This announcement was made by C. H. Hecke, state director of agriculture, who declared that the meeting had been decided upon after he had conferred with fruit and shipping interests relative to the disastrous situation that prevailed this season as a result of the railroad strike and the shortage of refrigerator cars.

Officials of raisin, prune, apricot, almond, fig and peach growers associations will attend the conference, as well as hundreds of individual growers and shippers. Hecke said. The railroads will also be represented.

Attention will be given at the sessions to the possibility of supplementing the movement of California fruit crops to Eastern markets by refrigerator ships.

With the naming last night of Senator H. B. Harris of Fresno as toastmaster, America leads the list.

An attendance of 400 is expected, if not exceeding that of last year, when more than 400 were present.

This year, according to Secretary George A. Forbes, a feature of the dinner will be the mass singing of songs composed by John Henry Lyons of Tacoma, former member of the Y. M. C. A. of Tacoma.

The singing will be led by Earl Towner, present supervisor of music. Copies of the songs have been printed and are ready for distribution.

America leads the list.

Pathless boys, whose names have been secured through the schools will be guests and members of the Lions Club will act as fathers for the occasion.

Devotional numbers on the program will be conducted by Rev. Thomas B. Friele and Rev. W. C. Fletcher, the new pastors of the First Baptist and St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal churches.

DEFECTIVE OIL CRIPPLES SHIP IN MID-OCEAN

Homestead Was Helpless For Five Days; Is Towed Into Norfolk

NORFOLK (Va.), Nov. 17.—(By wire.)—The vessel, bound from Boston for Norfolk, with a part of cargo of oil, was proceeding nicely about 12 miles off the Delaware Capes on the morning of October 24, when Chief Engineer C. J. Pierce, reported to Capt. J. J. Morgan that he had been burning an excessive amount of oil and had been forced to pump 300 barrels overboard in efforts to get rid of the dirt.

Upon leaving Boston the morning of October 20, the Homestead had 225 barrels of oil in the tanks. But by 4 o'clock the next afternoon the engines had to be slowed down because of the low stock. The vessel was moving slowly at the time, when the fire gradually going out, and at 8 o'clock that night the master decided to place the whole crew on watch in gangs hauling wood from the hatches.

Wood fires were started under the boilers after all other means of getting the oil to burn had failed. After the wood fires had been started and were burning at a fierce rate, Captain Morgan said the oil was forced through the burners on the wood and laid like so much paste squeezed from a tube.

Chief Engineer Pierce said the oil when forced on the wood fires, put them out. By 10:30 on the morning of October 25, the Shipping Board steamer Elmport, bound from Boston to Philadelphia, came alongside in response to a call. A line was sent from the Elmport to the Homestead but broke and the masters of the two vessels decided to wait calm weather before further attempts to get the line fast.

At that time Captain Morgan said the wind was from the southwest and blowing a gale. About 7:30 on the morning of October 26, the Elmport was able to get a mainline rope to the Homestead but the line broke about 7:15 that night after only about twenty-four miles' haul. The weather was not altogether favorable and it was not until 4 o'clock the following afternoon that the wire hawser of the Homestead was made fast and towing began.

The engine crew was still at work on the oil and fires and reported shortly after the towing started that the engines were working. The fires, however, again died away and the engines were stopped again.

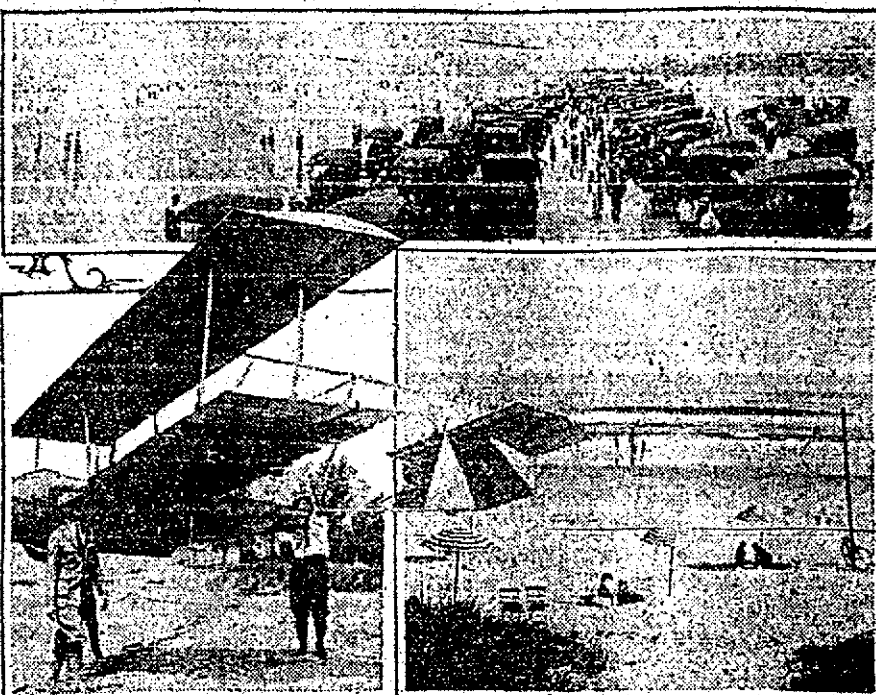

Corset Is Coming Back With Waistline Return

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Paris style-makers, having remonstrated that they can raise or lower women's skirts almost as easily as they manipulate a window shade, now are getting ready to bring back the vanished waistline, which went into the discard along with corsets.

This was the word brought back from France by David N. Moscovitch, head of the Associated Dress Industries of America; word which, he said, leaked out of the conference now being held to determine next spring's styles.

Just where the waistline will be located has not yet been decided; but there will be waistlines, and corsets to hold them in place, Moscovitch predicted.

Glider Contests Planned

Two views of the famous Ormond-Daytona beach, where flights will be held.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—In answer to an invitation extended by the Chamber of Commerce of Daytona, Florida, to the Aero Science Club of America, the first gliding and soaring flight competition in motorless airplanes in the United States will be held at the Ormond-Daytona Beach during next January. The Aero Science Club of America has accepted, according to Stanley Yalo Beach, its secretary. The invitation was forwarded to the Aero Club of America has been accepted.

The Aero Science Club will be glad to conduct the meet and hopes for an unequalled participation. The contest will be open to everybody. Motorless flying is a true flying and nothing could be more effective in stimulating interest in aviation.

In the invitation from the Daytona Chamber of Commerce it was stated that a thousand dollar trophy had been pledged towards this first American contest. It is hoped to add substantially to this endowment by other trophies and cash prizes. The National Aeronautic Association has expressed its interest.

Orville Wright was one of the first men to develop the art of gliding, although he has not flown a glider since the stormy above a sand dune at Kitty Hawk for ten minutes in 1911 in a fifty-seven mile an hour gale.

"As long as everyone flies under the same conditions, it does not matter whether the starting point is high or not. To hold a competition it is only necessary to have a suitable spot. Without doubt, Ormond-Daytona Beach will be a first rate place to hold a contest for the reason that a strong breeze from the sea generally prevails in which some of the machines would be able to make true soaring flights."

It is possible to soar over the water in one of these gliders as well as over the land, as shown by the recent experiments of Glenn H. Curtiss, the inventor of the flying boat. There are many who are eager to compete in a glider contest and at Ormond-Daytona Beach they will have their chance.

FAR NORTH STORM LOOKOUT PLANNED

Baffin Bay Weather Station Would Be Of Value To U. S. And Canada

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—An internationally owned and operated weather station and weather observation station on the shores of Baffin Bay, to supply data for the world's weather services, has been proposed, and steps are being taken to insure its installation.

Baffin Bay is pretty far North, as a glance at a map of the top of our continent will show, cold winds blow cheerily from the north of it, and snow hold sway over the land and sea for a good portion of the year, and the life of those stationed there, cut off from the world except by radio, would not be of the easiest; but the value of their service to the world would be incalculable, it is said.

Officials of the United States Weather Bureau are enthusiastic over the proposal and will urge the participation of the government in the cooperative scheme. They point out the valuable work of the international weather observation station on the lonely little island of Jan Mayen, off the southeast coast of Greenland, where reports are sent to all the European government meteorological services, as well as to the Canadian and United States Weather Bureaus.

V. Bjerknes, a Norwegian scientist and meteorologist through whose efforts the Jan Mayen station was erected, has been in this country and Canada for some time in the interest of the proposed Baffin Bay station.

Chances Unforeseen Now. The great value to this country of such a station is shown by observers in the fact that they are often handicapped by the sudden arrival of unforeseen weather changes originating in Northern Canada, where there are few stations. Thousands of miles of the continent up to the Arctic seas, hold no observations for weather men, and the observations if any were made. The northernmost weather station in Canada is almost 40 degrees from the northern edge of the continent, which puts it far south, close to the international boundary line.

Consequently, officials said, much weather which originates in that vast stretch of land is unobserved until it is right upon us. For this reason, it was added, waves often bear down from the North in winter and our weather bureau can give only scant warning.

Recent examples of this sudden and unforeseen change occurred in a series of showers that ended the long country-wide drought that gripped the country during August, September and early October. Continued dryness was predicted for some days because conditions were sluggish and no changes were observed within the scope of the reporting stations. Between two days, however, sudden showers swept down from the uncharted regions, freshened up the entire Atlantic seaboard and the Southern states, quenched destructive forest fires in Canada and brought an end to the drought.

Of International Benefit. If there were more stations farther north, it was said, the change could have been foreseen far ahead of its actual arrival, instead of about two days or less, and farmers and others to whom weather conditions are important could have had longer warning to prepare.

It may be explained that through general interchange, the weather observations of nations are made available to all other countries having weather services, and to whom the data is important. Canadian stations, therefore, make observations which are as important to this country's weather service as though those stations were owned by the United States. The Baffin Bay station would be financed and operated by the countries of the Northern hemisphere to whom the data would be of value when reported by wireless.

PSYCHIC STUDIES UNBALANCE MANY

Houdini Declares He Can Explain All Demonstrated Phenomena By Magic

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—Morbidness and melancholia induced by interest in psychic phenomena, threaten the health and sanity of many persons. In the opinion of the Society of Magicians, expressed at the annual dinner of the society here, the spoke of his twenty-five years' investigation of the subject, and said he had never seen anything so convincing as that there had been a single communication from the dead.

"I have never seen any of the mediums or spiritualists do anything or produce any effect which I cannot account for by knowledge of magic, account for or duplicate," he asserted. "I have had nine pacts with the dead, who while alive agreed with me to try to communicate with me from beyond, but each has been fruitless."

He said he had worked with Sir Oliver Lodge and other scientists engaged in the study of psychic phenomena and reported them. "But," he added, "when I demonstrated to them the secrets and reveal the methods used by mediums and they tell me that I, too, am a medium, in spite of myself, I am forced to conclude that they merely do not know."

"I have seen people who, previous to the war, never concerned themselves with things psychic now deriving into it the point of hysteria, becoming and melancholia. It becomes an obsession very quickly and I would warn against it. It is threatening the health and sanity of those who indulge in it."

HAITI BIRTHRATE SHOWS INCREASE

Adoption Of American Methods Of Sanitation Prevents Race Suicide

PORT-AU-PRINCE (Haiti), Nov. 17.—With a ratio of three births to each death, as shown by vital statistics for the first six months of 1922, Haiti is rapidly increasing in population and is free from race suicide. A striking phase of this increase is that the difference in male and female babies is negligible. The gradual adoption of American sanitary methods, the improvement of the agricultural yield, and the cessation of Haitian revolutions with their considerable toll of deaths and hardships that were reflected in succeeding generations, are responsible for the marked increase in a naturally prolific people. Last year the ratio was two to one.

Prior to the American occupation no vital statistics were collected by the Haitian government. Estimates of the population were made by the French priests and generally accepted. A system inaugurated by the American sanitary service, co-operated in by the Haitian gendarmerie, in beginning to yield results of growing accuracy. The first six months of the year showed an increase of 60 per cent of the communes making reports, as compared to 10 per cent last year.

This American has been adopted as the Austrian and Hungarian workers' poet laureate. The Vienna actress, Mlle. Guttmann, did the recitations.

AUSTRIA LIVING COST INCREASES

Money Printing Activity Is Unable To Keep Pace With Demand For Kroner

VIENNA, Nov. 17.—It is estimated that the cost of living in Austria has increased over 20,000 per cent since January of this year. Each monthly index number, on which all government salaries as well as agreements between employers and employees are based, has mounted steadily, until this month government employees receive salaries equal to 156 times the amount paid in March of 1921. This and other government outlays has been met largely by the printing press, until the current statement of the Austro-Hungarian bank shows a total note circulation of nearly two thousand billions of kroners. One week's increase alone was 130,000,000,000.

Within the last month strict government control over all dealings in foreign exchange has raised the krona from about $4,000 to 74,000 to the dollar. But despite this there has been no appreciable check in rising prices. It is claimed, for ex-

City Once Fourth In State Is Now Deserted

STOCKTON, Nov. 17.—Once the fourth city in size in California, Columbia, an old mining town on the Mother Lode south of here, has joined the list of "ghost cities" inhabited mainly by memories.

Back in the gold days Columbia was called the "gem of the southern mines" and at one time it was thought of as a possible location for the capital of the state.

From the placers around Columbia between $5,000,000 and $60,000,000 were taken out in free gold in the early days. Several weeks ago a stranger tried to buy placer gold at Columbia and was told not a bit could be had.

ample, that flour, margarine, beef, fat, coffee, clothing, shoes and fuel are above world parity.

The government and private interests recently initiated a fight against the index number system, an antidote to the state was brought in by which the government will pay only one-half of any future increase, while private employers served notice they would not meet it, but would negotiate the basis of increase with the unions.

Organized labor of every kind rose as a man, and more than half a dozen unions are still on strike.

"The unions claim that the index system is not a cause of increased prices, but a thermometer, and that the basic fault is lack of control over profiteering in necessities."

League Delegates Are Told Rod Will Prevent Delinquencies

MEMPHIS (Tenn.), Nov. 17.—Several hundred delegates to the twelfth annual convention of the National League of Compulsory Education officials recently were told by William L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education in Chicago, some pertinent facts about the advantages and shortcomings of the public schools of America.

"The public school is the humanitarian in our national life," Mr. Bodine declared. "I believe in teaching the household arts and cooking classes. A bad cook can spoil a good man. A good cook is a good man."

"There was a time when mothers raised their girls. In these days of the defiant, incorrigible flapper, there is an increase in delinquency among girls. Devils creep while parents sleep. Light headed girls ought to be kept out of high schools. More parental schools now mean fewer prisons in the future."

European Planes Carry American Passengers

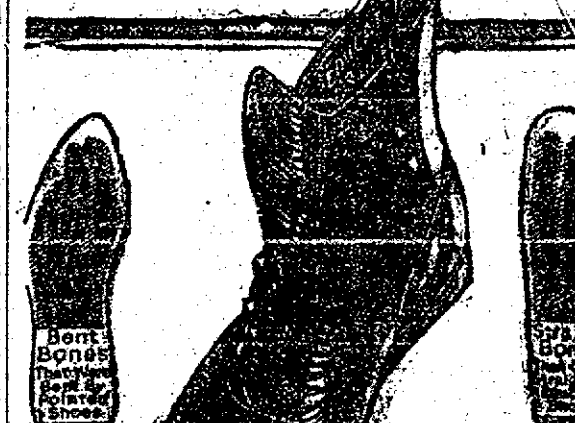

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—One may well arrive at the conclusion that, with well regulated commercial air lines operating in the United States, traveling by air would become very popular. A news item appearing in a recent issue of a British aeronautical journal states that on a certain Monday in August there were as many as 170 passengers in and out of the London air station, which constituted a record. This number included sixty-four American girls brought over in eight machines of the Instone Air Line.

Two of these airplanes were destroyed by bad weather conditions in France and landed at the London airport after dark by the aid of night lighting. Of the 170 passengers, 151 traveled in twelve machines. Also on that record day there were as many as forty-one air expresses passing to and fro along the airways between London and the continent.

DAMAGE SUIT IS DISMISSED AT VISALIA

Court Extends Sympathy To Bereaved Farmer In Verdict

VISALIA (Tulare Co.), Nov. 17.—Declaring that while it was most regrettable and the sympathy of the court and everyone must necessarily go to the plaintiff in the bereavement, Superior Judge J. A. Allen yesterday afternoon ordered the damage suit of William F. Moore, Visalia rancher, vs. the Southern California Edison Company dismissed and granted a motion for a non-suit. Moore was suing for $25,000 damages for the death of his son, William A. Moore, May 1922, when the young man was electrocuted in the wall pit at the Moore ranch shortly following completion of work therein by Edison employees. Negligence on the part of the company was charged, the plaintiff contending that through some oversight the company workmen had allowed a short circuit by which a high voltage passed through the ordinary 220-volt light circuit. The court held that no evidence had been introduced to indicate negligence on the part of the company. On the contrary, he said, the testimony of the plaintiff's own expert witness, C. H. Holley, former chief engineer for the J. M. Whitney Power and Electric Company, had shown that, under certain conditions, death could have been caused from a 220-volt circuit, or even less. There was no evidence that the light circuit had been short circuited, he said, and therefore he would be useless to continue the case and cause the plaintiff the extra expense.

Fresno Man Wins Damage Verdict In Kern County

BAKERSFIELD (Kern Co.), Nov. 17.—A verdict in favor of H. F. McLaughlin, Fresno hotel keeper, for damages in the sum of $201 for false arrest and imprisonment in Kern County Jail, has been rendered by County Clerk Frank E. Smith's office. D. B. Newell, sheriff of Kern County; C. W. Cole, motorcycle policeman; and the New Amsterdam Casualty Company, were the defendants. W. E. Smith, constable, and J. L. Johnson, also named as defendants in the action, were not included in the verdict, the former having obtained a non-suit, and the latter avoiding service by leaving the city.

McLaughlin was arrested by Officers Cole and Johnson in May, 1921, while he was driving toward McLaughlin's home, back to Bakersfield and under imprisonment in the county jail for more than two hours while his friends obtained an order for his release from a justice of the peace. According to McLaughlin, the officers used profane language and force in making the arrest, and his request to be taken before a justice of the peace was refused. McLaughlin asked $15,000 damages for having been humiliated and injured in his business and personal relations.

The structure will be an addition to the present Southern Hotel Building at the corner of Chester Avenue and Nineteenth Street, the new addition occupying the corner of 1 and Nineteenth Streets and making the hotel building take the entire half block. EARLY CHOICE OF NEW U. S. JUDGE IS ANTICIPATED

Quick Action Expected When Legislators Return To Washington

By LEO A. McCLATCHY
WASHINGTON BEE BUREAU, Nov. 17.—With members of the senate returning to Washington for the special session of congress which convenes next Monday, the department of justice is anticipating early action in the appointment of additional federal judges congress has authorized.

Assistant Secretary Daugherty has stressed the necessity of filling these posts at the earliest possible moment because of the congestion of federal court calendars throughout the country, caused by the ever increasing number of bankruptcies.

Senators Johnson and Shortridge were to have conferred in California as to the recommendations they would submit for the selection of judges which have been created for that state, but there has been no word from them to whether they have come to any decision.

They are reported to be in a deadlock for the additional post in the northern district, for which Shortridge is said to favor Superior Judge Thomas F. Graham of San Francisco. The law association of that city, having directed the selection of Graham, and some of Johnson's close friends say he has taken the same attitude.

These In The Race

Associate secretary of state, whose home is in San Diego, have been passing the word about that he is certain of receiving the appointment for the southern district, which former Superior Judge H. W. Austin of Fresno, and W. B. Riser, Jr., attorney of Modesto, also are candidates. Governor William D. Stephens has been reported to have been passing the word about that he is certain of receiving the appointment for the southern district, which former Superior Judge H. W. Austin of Fresno, and W. B. Riser, Jr., attorney of Modesto, also are candidates.

Neither Johnson nor Shortridge, however, has indicated whether any choice has been made from the long list of names that has been submitted to them.

Like Fresno, San Diego has been clamoring for some federal patronage. But San Diego already has put in a bid for the appointment of a judge, which would be established at Los Angeles. A definite decision is expected to create a few districts. Having recently visited in California with Attorney General C. E. Webb, assistant secretary of state, who is passing the word about that he is certain of receiving the appointment for the southern district, which former Superior Judge H. W. Austin of Fresno, and W. B. Riser, Jr., attorney of Modesto, also are candidates.

This may have some bearing on the judgeship contest, for it is not believed both posts would be given to San Diego.

In the event the senators are unable to agree on a recommendation, selection would be passed up to the attorney general.

HEAD OF LAND SETTLEMENT WILL RETIRE

Dr. Elwood Mead Announces He Does Not Seek Re-appointment

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 17.—At least one member of the administration of Governor William D. Stephens will not serve under the regime of Governor-elect Friend William Richardson. This is Dr. Elwood Mead, chief of the land settlement division of the state department of public works, who announced here that he had notified Richardson by letter that he was not a candidate for reappointment.

Has Not Resigned

A report that he had sent in his resignation to Governor Stephens, Mead said, was untrue. Mead is a pioneer in land settlement work in California, having directed the organization and settlement of the first project at Durham, which has been in operation for several years. Mead became identified with this work in California six years ago, first serving as head of the old land settlement board and then as chief of the division of land settlement at the University of California, having directed the organization of the department of public works after the reorganization of state government agencies by the legislature two years ago.

Many At University

Mead is professor of rural irrigation at the University of California, and he said he had made up his mind to give up his office in the land settlement division because of the pressure of his duties at the university. He said his purpose was to give the government time to make his plans for the future.

COUNCIL ASKED TO DISCHARGE MODESTO POLICE

Two Members Of Force Under Fire Of Committee Of Citizens

MODESTO (Stanislaus Co.), Nov. 17.—Albert Oswald, recently elected member of the city commission, stated to-day that the Citizens' Committee, which managed the campaign that swept four new city commissioners into office here recently, had demanded that the council discharge Captain of Police Elmer Arington and Patrolman M. C. Smith, son of Chief of Police Lee Smith.

The announcement came after a series of secret meetings held by the committee, in which it is understood, complaints against various city employees had been aired.

During a session of the committee last night at the Sixth Street School, Captain Arington, walked into a meeting as the case was being discussed. He said that residents near the school had notified the police office that lights were burning in the school, and he had come to investigate.

Oswald would not discuss the nature of the charges other than to state that the two men were charged with conduct unbecoming to an officer. He stated that he would not recommend the dismissal of the two men at the next meeting of the council, but that the charges would be considered by that body in executive session in the near future.

Should the investigation by the committee result in sustaining the charges, Oswald stated, the two men would be discharged. In neither event will the cases come before an open meeting of the council.

Arington to-day stated that he knew nothing of the attempt to have him discharged. He said there had been no intimation that his work was unsatisfactory, and that he was not in trouble with members of the citizens' committee.

CANCER WEEK TO CLOSE TO-MORROW

Society Publishes Articles
Dealing With Dread
Disease

Following is another of a series of articles prepared and published at the request of the American Society for the Control of Cancer as a part of the campaign of Cancer Week, that ends to-morrow:

Treatment Limited

In such an article as this it is, of course, impossible to lay down the proper treatment for any given case of cancer. Only the general principles can be dealt with.

Broadly speaking, our means of treatment are limited to three—surgery, radium and X-ray. The cautions and limitations of use, its dangers and its limitations are so great that its practical use is slight comparatively.

In the second article of this Cancer Week series, What Cancer Is, it was pointed out that every cancer has its beginning at one single point, never at several places at once, or as a constitutional disease.

Only after a longer or shorter period of growth at its point of origin does the cancer begin to spread by means of its blood or lymph stream to distant parts of the body.

The secret of treatment, therefore, is complete destruction of the growth at its point of origin.

It is not until the cancer has spread by means of its blood or lymph stream to distant parts of the body that the secret of treatment, therefore, is complete destruction of the growth at its point of origin.

HARDING TO KEEP CONGRESS BUSY

Big Program Of Work Facing Special Session On November 20

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Congress, when it comes back for the special session scheduled to start November 20th, will have a stiff, hard program ahead. It is to make good on the program being laid out for it by President Harding.

If it makes good, its reward will come next March 4th, with the announcement that congress can go home on that day and remain away from Washington until the start of the regular session in December, 1923—a vacation of nine months.

If the program is carried out, the country next summer will have a real rest from the national legislative body, for virtually the first time since before the war. President Harding is most anxious that this "rest" be given. He believes the country is tired of having congress in almost continuous session.

But congress will have to "cut corners" and get strictly down to business if it is to earn the vacation. There is plenty of room for doubting that all the important legislation on the president's program can be disposed of by March 4th. There are the big appropriation measures, which must be passed. They alone could easily take up all the time unless congress puts on unusual speed.

Next in importance, from the White House viewpoint comes the ship subsidy bill. President Harding, who considers the subsidy the most important piece of domestic legislation thus far advanced by the administration, is believed to be in a mood to insist that definite and final action on the measure be taken at the next session. If the president demands final consideration of the subsidy, the plans for a congressional vacation may go on the rocks right there. It is believed now that the shipping bill could be passed in the house, under a special rule limiting debate, and prohibiting amendments, but in the senate its opponents could hold up the measure for months if they were of the mind to do so. And indications are they are of that mind.

The Railroad Legislation.—Then there is the question of reviving the Esch-Cummins act. President Harding notified congress this summer that he would expect legislation this winter regarding the big railroad strike. The problem wouldn't be so big if the White House and administration forces were in harmony over what remedial legislation should be passed. But they are, apparently, as far apart as the poles.

The big point of difference is the

Wins Divorce In Two Minutes

Lorraine Bree, "musical comedy" girl who has been playing in Bos. opened. Now, it is rumored, she recently set a record in the New York divorce courts recently marrying Winfield, Scott, a Texas man when she obtained a decree within minutes.

Railroad Labor Board. President Harding wants the board revised, moved from Chicago to Washington, and given more power. Most senators and house members want the board abolished, believing its creation was a blunder.

Besides this there will be strong and organized demands for a general revision of the entire transportation act. The farm bloc will drive for lower freight rates and will seek any kind of legislation that would accomplish that. They may win, but they are demanding an entire new valuation of the railroads, which bloc leaders charge are now overvalued by millions of dollars. The bloc will also try to repeal the section giving the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to fix freight rates on commerce within the states.

Unless administration leaders succeed in spreading oil on the troubled waters, the attempt to enact new industrial legislation will drag debate out for weeks and send shuddering the chances for a get-away March 4th.

Soldier and Farm Blocs.—Besides the legislation the administration wants congress to tackle there will be movements from every direction to further clog the legislative wheels. The farm bloc will be trying to extend the credit facilities for farmers. The soldier bloc will be demanding action on the legislative proposals put forth by the American Legion convention at New Orleans. The farm bloc again with the Democrats from the solid South will push a new drive for acceptance of the Ford offer for Muscle Shoals. The latter is a long fight and for that reason will take up even more time than otherwise.

In addition to all of this, many individual senators and congressmen will be seeking to get some of their "pet" legislative theories enacted into law before the proposed long recess.

It looks like more than an even bet that next summer will find congress doing business at the old stand, as usual.

LANDS OPENED TO HOMESTEAD ENTRY

General Land Office Announces 2,679 Acres Withdrawn; Veterans First

By LEO A. MCCLATHY
WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—George R. Wickham, acting commissioner for the general land office, announced that 2,679 acres of public lands in western tracts in the Sacramento and Siskiyou land districts have been eliminated from stock driveway withdrawals and thrown open to the homestead entry.

Ex-service men of the war with Germany have a preference right to file for this land for ninety days, beginning November 27th, although filings may be presented now. Any land not so presented will be subject to the land remaining open and after February 26, 1923, will be subject to appropriation by the general public. The tracts are reported to be generally grazing lands covered with brush, and some scattering timber.

Further information as to the location of the lands can be had from the Sacramento and Siskiyou land offices.

WORLD REVOLT IS SOVIET AIM

Communist Leaders Discuss Tactics Of Dictatorship At Moscow Congress

MOSCOW, Nov. 17.—The congress of the world's communist leaders, yesterday discussed tactics for bringing about a world revolution to establish proletarian dictatorship. Front is explained as mixing into every labor dispute and participating in every public strike and work-everywhere.

It was decided that a "united front" policy must prevail. A truce with the labor parties and labor unions, even with the hated Socialists, in order to win the workers to the red cause. United front tactics is a reversal from the former "divide and conquer" policy.

Most bitter attacks were launched yesterday, not against the bourgeoisie, whom the communists want to conquer, but against the labor parties and Socialist parties as they are known in England, America and elsewhere, which were summoned up as followers of the second international.

It was declared that "the world is ready for Communism, but the second international stands in the way. The third international must strive to win the majority of workers. It may take years—it may

FLYERS ABANDON WORLD FLIGHT

Aviators Forced To Land In Open Sea; Airplane Turns Turtle

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The round the world flight started by the British aviators Major Blaker and Capt. Macmillan had to be abandoned, due to the fact that the former officer contracted a physical disability during the course of the flight and was forced to land on an operation, and Capt. Macmillan with Malles, who continued the trip, was forced to land, due to a missing motor, in the open sea while making for Chitragong, India, from Calcutta.

The airplane gradually broke up while in the water and, finally, turned turtle, leaving the two aviators hanging from the floats, as well as the fuel for a day and a night before they were rescued. They were taken to a hospital in a well nigh worrisome condition, due to the exposure they suffered.

Another Flight Planned.—Aviation folk in Great Britain are not discouraged over the failure of Capt. Blaker's expedition and are now planning a flight around the world by seaplane, which will take place some time next year. The scheme, which is drawn up under the Air League of the British Empire, provides for a flight from England via Bombay, Aden, Basrah, Bombay, Rangoon, Hong Kong, Tokyo, the Aleutian Isles, Vancouver, across Canada and the United States to Newfoundland, and back to England by the Azores.

Machine Specially Built.—The machine is to be a specially built Kalkreuth, presumably amphibian, fitted with a Rolls-Royce "Condor" engine of 550 horse power and it will be piloted by Capt. E. S. K. McLaughry, D. S. O., D. F. C., and Capt. H. H. Mcintosh, with Capt. F. Tymms, M. C., as navigator. A mechanic is also to be carried. Capt. Mcintosh is a well known Handley-Page pilot, while Capt. McLaughry is accounted to be a first class pilot who served with distinction in the Australian Flying Corps during the war. Capt. Tymms, transferred to the Royal Flying Corps from the infantry, has specialized in aerial navigation and is one of the very few holders of the air certificate of the highest grade.

STEEL EMPLOYEES WILL BE AIDED

Judge Gary's Corporation Spending Millions For Welfare

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Fourteen years ago Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the United Steel Corporation, called a meeting of casualty managers of the various subsidiary companies and told them: "We shall not hesitate to make the necessary appropriations of money to carry into effect every suggestion that seems to be practical for the improvement of the conditions at our mills as far as our employees are concerned."

New Era Begun.—This meeting marked the beginning of the steel corporation's welfare work. In fact, it marked the beginning of a new era in industrial relations in which the "soulless" corporation recognized the employee as the most valuable machinery asset, and sought to maintain that asset as its highest efficiency.

For its purpose the steel corporation alone has spent more than $100,000,000, and is spending at the rate of $1,000,000 a year for its 200,000 employees. Experience has shown that an investment in paying dividends to the corporation and to its employees in dollars and cents, if the return may only be measured in these terms.

Scope Of The Work.—At first the work was carried on by a safety committee comprising welfare of the employee. The representatives of the larger subsidiary companies. From accident prevention the scope gradually broadened to include all phases touching the officials of the corporation and the welfare of the employee and his family. It is estimated that serious and fatal accidents have been cut in half. At some plants the number of minor accidents has been reduced by more than 90 per cent. The Farrell Works, with a normal force of 2,000 men, has operated for nearly without a single lost time accident, and the Edgar Thompson plant, with a normal force of 6,000, shows such a record of fifty-four days.

The effect has been to make the steel mills in this country the safest in the world with an accident frequency rate of only ten to 100 employees. In the German steel plants, considered models in this respect before the war, the rate was seven to 1,000.

Sanitation Is Included.—The corporation, besides guarding its employees from physical injury, seeks to correct sanitary conditions responsible for more winter attacks on their welfare. To do this, it is spending about $3,000,000 a year. It not only provides modern washrooms and lavatory equipment at its plants, but sees that the streets and alleys are properly drained and pools and lowlands filled in where practicable. This latter work has reduced the cases of winter fever in one locality from about 5,000 to 200 annually.

Better Men Needed.—Accident prevention and sanitation affect the employee at his work, but the bureau realizes that to make a better man, schools, musical organizations, clubs, gardens and playgrounds are furnished for his recreation and development, and housing centers and visiting nurses are at hand to offer aid when desired for the instruction or care of his wife and family.

Not happen before our next session. The Socialist parties as they exist in America, Germany and England are called traitors and the tools of the bourgeoisie. The Italian Socialists are assailed for cooperating with the Fascists. It was predicted that a "series of illegal working class this year, of which the Fascist victory in Italy was the first. The reaction is growing in Europe."

EXHUME BODIES OF 350 CHINESE

Deceased Foreigners To Be Returned To Native Land

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The bones of 350 Chinese, formerly living in Massachusetts, will be shipped back to their native land from this port on November 27 in the steamship Eastern Dollar. The bones will be packed in zinc boxes three feet long for the voyage. The bones are of those Chinese who have died in this state within the last twenty-five or thirty years and are buried in local cemeteries, always, according to Chinese tradition, with the hope that some day their bones would get back to the Flowery Kingdom for final interment.

Many Chinese believe that burial in consecrated ground in the soil of their ancestors is necessary to insure translation to the "Heaven" destined for their race, but the bones are regarded as the main essential for resurrection, the more perishable part of the body being always removed before transportation to the final resting place.

The prospective disinterment of 350 bodies will be the largest undertaking of the sort ever attempted by the Chinese in this country, is in charge of Undertaker Richard Kirby of East Boston. He expects to begin disinterment next Monday at Mt. Hope cemetery, where the greater portion of the 350 are buried in one lot. There are a few scattered about the state, even on Cape Cod, but all will look after them all.

Expert Engaged.—A Chinese expert has been procured from San Francisco and with four Chinese assistants he will be busy enough for the next month or so. Mr. Hope, where the bones will be disinterred into the metal boxes and placed in large wooden boxes. It is proposed to disinter and dispose of the bones of twenty-five Chinese a day.

It is estimated that the whole enterprise, including the expense of shipping the bodies to Hong Kong will cost about $10,000. The United Chinese Benevolent Association, which practically every Chinaman in the state belongs, is back of the big contract.

Thomas J. Barry, counsel for the United association, has arranged for the organization to give a bond to the Boston Board of Health as a guarantee against any claim by friends of the disinterred Chinamen based on the removal.

No Chinaman who has been married to an American woman will be disinterred for fear of possible legal complications.

WORLD'S FINEST GEMS COME HERE

Priceless Russian Jewels Are Absorbed By American Markets

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Jewels worth almost half a billion francs have been absorbed by the American market in the last year by continental and American markets without any influence on the prices of gems, according to Pierre Cartier, jeweler, who returned from an extended trip to Europe. Cartier says that many of the rarer jewels of those countries are finding their way into this country.

Jewelry In Stable.—"Jewelry in Europe remains the stable media of international exchange," said Mr. Cartier. "In those countries, particularly where exchange has fallen in comparison with Russia and Russia, jewelry has been the means of saving whole families from abject poverty."

While it might have been expected that the trend toward a very definite tendency with the influx of jewels on the market to a lowering in values, this is not the case. The values, on the other hand, have been steadily maintained and there is a definite upward tendency in the market at the present time.

Heavy Investments.—"The rising middle classes in Europe and America have absorbed this tremendous treasure, which runs into about 400,000,000 francs. This unprecedented investing in jewelry has been partly due to a realization throughout Europe that jewelry no longer merely a luxury and artistic value, but the turbulent times of the revolution and reconstruction periods have taught the European populations to regard jewelry as one of the solid media of exchange having permanent value."

The jewelry that has found the greatest market and that has been absorbed to the greatest extent has come directly from the members of the imperial houses of Russia and Austria and the nobility of those two countries. Grand Dukes and other refugees personally disposed of their jewelry at the great Paris houses, and found among these gems some of the rarest pearls, diamonds and colored stones.

The jewels recovered from the religious edifices and other sources have not made an impression on the market because, for the most part, they were of a lesser value and consisted to a great extent of showy and thin stones."

PAINTING WORTH $500,000 FOUND

Picture Sold With Building With Value Of $1,000 Placed Upon It

OGDENSBURG (N. Y.), Nov. 17.—A missing painting by Claude Lorraine, seventeenth century artist, said to be valued at $500,000 and for which a search has been made for years, was discovered recently in the recreation room of the Knights of Columbus home here. The building formerly was the residence of Mrs. W. J. Averill, stepmother of Miss E. H. Averill, widow of the railroad financier. The discovery was made after a receipt of a newspaper containing an article telling of the search for the lost canvas.

The painting is said to have been the property of Bertha Ettinson, a native of Russia and for several years a nurse at Philadelphia and Los Angeles, to whom it was given by an artist in Russia. Miss Ettinson, it is understood, was ignorant of the value of the painting and sold it to an art dealer in Los Angeles for $100. The purchaser discovered its worth and had it insured for $500,000.

The picture is a three by five canvas entitled "The Port of Messina." The title is written on the back of the canvas and the signature of the artist appears upon its face.

When Mrs. Averill sold her home to the Knights of Columbus the painting was included in the sale. At the time she was reported to have said that the canvas was worth $1,000. Miss Ettinson, according to the newspaper article telling of the search for the painting, declared that it had been insured for $500,000. It was sold without her knowledge for $100, she is alleged to have said, although she had been offered $10,000 for it.

Girl Of 16 Is Bride Of Man More Than 96

MT. VERNON (Ky.), Nov. 17.—Probably the strangest wedding Rockcastle County ever saw was that of "Uncle Joel" Pittman, 96 years old, veteran of the Civil War, and Miss Rosy Clouse, 16, daughter of Rev. L. C. Clouse, pastor of the Sand Hill Baptist Church. "Uncle Joel" is the great-grandfather of more than a dozen children. Less than a month after his wife died, about a month ago, he wrote to Miss Clouse and asked if he could come to see her. Finally "Uncle Joel" proposed.

PARIS RADIO SET WORLD'S BIGGEST

Million Words Daily To Be
The Capacity; Direct Touch
With Entire World

PARIS, Nov. 17.—Another step in the plan to "mooch" the new world alongside the old has been taken here by the opening of the great French wireless station at Saint-Assise. This is described as the biggest wireless station in the world, and it has a capacity, its builders say, of 1,000,000 words a day. Messages have already been sent at the rate of eighty words a minute with perfect clearness, and when the equipment is completed it will be possible to send five or six messages simultaneously, with a total output of 600 words a minute.

Saint-Assise, which in future will carry the bulk of wireless communication between France and America, is worked from the center of Paris by means of a long distance control system. The central office near the Paris Stock Exchange, by means of six receivers centers in the suburbs, picks up messages destined for transmission from Saint-Assise and automatically passes them on across the Atlantic.

This station is thirty-five times as powerful as the Eiffel Tower Station. In addition, to messages sent to New York, direct communication has already been established with Argentina and China, and when the post is completely it will be clearly heard in the remotest recesses of Alaska and the southern extremities of South America. The French constructors of the plant say the system used is several years in advance of that of the United States or of Germany. The wires are supported on seven pylons each 320 feet high.

BEATS OF HEART ARE AUDIBLE FAR

New Invention Is Demonstrated By Physician
In East

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 17.—Before an audience of Lafayette physicians and surgeons and a few guests, Professor T. E. Abbott of the physics department at Purdue University demonstrated his new invention. The apparatus is a vacuum tube stethoscope that amplifies the sound of heartbeats so that they may be heard the length and breadth of the largest hall at the university.

The device is said to be superior to anything of its kind. It will be of great assistance to hospitals and physicians in detecting heart and lung diseases. Sounds of the body are magnified many times and made audible.

The magnifying equipment of a radio receiving station was used by Mr. Abbott to demonstrate his device. He showed that with one amplifying tube the heart beat could be heard only a few feet away. With two tubes a room full of persons could hear it, and with three tubes it could be heard, distinctly over one of the largest halls at Purdue.

Mr. Abbott announced that the apparatus had been used to make photographic records of the heart action of a number of athletes and persons with irregular heart beats. It reproduced the heart beats of his son, age 7, and of O. L. McVane of Rush County, a senior in the university, the room and also from the university's wireless broadcasting station.

A phonograph and rotating mirror were used to trace on a screen a large scale diagram of the variations of loudness of the heart beats.

The instrument also amplifies the sound of a watch ticking until the sound became a loud tapping and persons in the audience were able to hear the wheels turning inside their watches.

Girl, 14, Denied Right To Marry Divorced Boy

KANSAS CITY (Kan.), Nov. 17.—J. C. Belden was granted a temporary injunction in the Wyandotte district court restraining his wife from giving her consent to the marriage of their daughter, Josephine Frances Belden, 14, to Dewey Holt, 22.

The two were to have been married. The invitations were out, the trousseau was ready and the wedding cake was baked, when the injunction was granted.

Smart Clothes Prove Practical

By Eloise

Ask any business girl or mother who must outfit a daughter for school what is the greatest worry of the clothes problem and it is not the delicate one of how to pay for the clothes, it will surely be how to get smart attractive clothes which are practical and can stand hard wear. The business girl must have costumes which are suitable, not only for the office but for the theater, the restaurant and the dinner at a friend's home. In addition to these demands it must be ready for hard wear and all kinds of weather. Here are three costumes which seem to have been designed for just such wear. They are inexpensive, smart and serviceable. At the left is a coat for sports or general wear. It is tan over plaid with a brown fur fabric collar and cuffs. It may be worn over a dress or suit and is just the thing for motoring in brisk weather. Tweed promises to be as popular for fall and winter as for early spring. A longer coat marks the new suits and very often as here a fur collar is added for comfort as well as beauty. This is a brown and white mixture with a racoon collar.

An autumn dress is shown at the right. It is made of tan knitted fabric with a long, full overblouse. Blue leather used as binding is the only trimming. It is a frock which may receive all manner of hard wear with the minimum number of cleanings and pressings.

ELECTRIC POWER IN AFRICA LATENT

Development Comparatively
Small, Says English
Business Man

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Africa is far less advanced along electrical lines than most people even suspect, according to Herbert H. Markham, who has just completed a year's trip that carried him on a route of 20,000 miles through that continent.

Mr. Markham, who made a thorough investigation of the possibilities of Africa in behalf of a big electric company of London and of New York, reports that with the exception of the large electrical plant employed in the gold and diamond mining industries in South Africa, there is very little electrical development in the whole country apart from ordinary lighting schemes.

Great Water Power
"Although there is a considerable amount of unharvested water power in Africa and although several hydro-electric enterprises have been suggested, the great distance over which transmission would have to be carried rather kills the possibility of utilizing the wonderful natural resources."

For instance, the Victoria Falls would be capable of generating possibly hundreds of thousands of horse power.

Yet it would be an extremely expensive proposition to transmit this energy from the source to even such points as Bulawayo and Salisbury, a few hundred miles from the Falls. A line to Johannesburg is thought to be far too expensive to be undertaken.

Falls Could Be Harnessed
"Tinnon Falls, which are the overflow of Lake Victoria, are the source of the River Nile, could also supply an enormous amount of energy, but this is another instance where the load could not be utilized to a financial success."

METAL INDUSTRY WAGES INCREASED

Men Had Been Leaving Districts To Accept Work In Other Places; More Pay

HOUGHTON (Mich.), Nov. 17.—The recent 15 per cent increase in wages granted employees of the Copper Range and Quincy copper district, and the announcement that the Calumet and Hecla and Moctavio and Wolverine companies would shortly raise wages, is interpreted as an effort on the part of the mining companies to hold together such forces as they now have and add to them if possible.

Men have left the district in considerable numbers during the past few months, due to higher wages obtainable elsewhere. A crippling of mine organizations has resulted, with subsequent higher costs and lessened production. It has been the history of the district that when one or two companies increased wages the others virtually were forced to follow to maintain general morale.

Mining costs still are high and earnings small. Although surplus copper is steadily diminishing no substantial improvements in the metal market are expected until next spring. Copper has been selling recently at 14 cents per pound or a fraction under. Present and contemplated wage increases will mean an increase of costs of from one-half to a cent per pound. The only way shattered organizations could be revived and their efficiency increased was to raise wages, even though not strictly warranted by the present price for the metal, officials point out.

Copper mining companies at the close of the war were left with an abnormal metal surplus. Demand for the metal fell sharply and the price dropped from 25 cents per pound, the war price, to under 12 cents. The majority of the mines reported operating losses, wages were increased and production decreased. In the Spring of 1921 the Calumet and Hecla and subsidiaries shut down completely. The other companies continued to operate sufficiently only to keep the mines open. Production today is approximately one-half of normal for the district, estimated at 11,000,000 pounds per month, as compared with a pre-war normal of 22,000,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Raymond Collins of Brooklyn, convicted of a murder charge on Staten Island, became the champion checker player in the Sing Sing death house. Playing checker in the death house, where each player is locked in a separate cell and cannot even see his partner, is a difficult game.

The positions on the checker boards open in Brooklyn. A player not alone moves his own checker when he plays, but also moves his rival's checker according to the directions the rival calls out to his cell.

Collins, who is said to be a college graduate, gave his address as 1674 Eighth Avenue, Brooklyn, when convicted of the murder of Michael Brown, watchman of a liquor warehouse in New Brighton, N. Y., on March 1st, while Connor was being sentenced to 30 years in prison.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Harvesting was in full swing throughout Japan in October. Farmers have gathered the greatest crop of rice that they have had for many years while other cereals are equally as prolific. The season has been a most favorable one, a long dry summer and plentiful spring rains and occasional gentle showers during September.

In some few isolated districts the crops were damaged by storms, but on the whole Japan this year passed through the worst two typhoon months, August and September, without having experienced any particularly bad weather. Based on investigations made on September 20, the board of agriculture estimated the rice crop at 62,835,000 bushels, showing an increase of 7,454,000, or 12.9 per cent, compared with last year's yield, and that of 5,622,000 koku or 5.9 per cent on a normal year's average.

The estimates prove correct. Japan will be enabled to get along without importing any foreign rice during next year.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—What to do when a landlady, alleged to be dissatisfied with a rental reduction ordered by the district rent commission, takes out the furnace and refuses to install it or a new one until the tenant pays a higher rent is a problem put up today to the commission by Mrs. Emma E. Greenfield of 1308 Vermont Avenue.

According to information received by the commission, Fannie Downer, owner of the premises, had the old heating plant carted away, apparently with the intention of installing a new one. The new one, however, was placed in the yard, but the landlady is said to have refused to have it set up until her tenant agreed to pay more rent.

Under the Rent Act, it would be a violation of the law for Mrs. Greenfield to disregard the commission's rent determination, which fixed a $100 monthly rate, so she is in a quandary.

The commission did not make known what action could be taken by the tenant.

Postal Receipts Show
Industrial Revival

An industrial revival is seen by the Post Office Department in figures announced recently showing increase of more than 14 per cent in postal receipts of fifty selected industrial cities throughout the country during October over October, 1921.

Efficient, the largest increase yet registered since the postal receipts for the selected industrial cities began to be tabulated in July. Thirteen cities showed increases of more than 20 per cent. Receipts for the fifty cities were more by $155,000 than a year ago.

The Washington City Postoffice showed an increase of more than $27,000, or 11.4 per cent, October, 1922, over October, 1921. In receipts made public by the department yesterday for the fifty largest cities of the country, the largest cities as distinct from the industrial cities, showed a gain of 14.2 per cent over a year ago. The season has been a most favorable one, a long dry summer and plentiful spring rains and occasional gentle showers during September.

In some few isolated districts the crops were damaged by storms, but on the whole Japan this year passed through the worst two typhoon months, August and September, without having experienced any particularly bad weather. Based on investigations made on September 20, the board of agriculture estimated the rice crop at 62,835,000 bushels, showing an increase of 7,454,000, or 12.9 per cent, compared with last year's yield, and that of 5,622,000 koku or 5.9 per cent on a normal year's average.

The estimates prove correct. Japan will be enabled to get along without importing any foreign rice during next year.

ATHLETES GO UNSHAVED
Till They Win Victory

FORT WORTH, (Tex.), Nov. 17.—The unshaved athletes of Texas Christian University here, who have foregone shaving until the football team wins a game, were joined by a large group of co-eds, who vowed to wear their hair slicked back until football victory is achieved.

Ray—So your husband refused to buy you an automobile?
May—No, he really refused; he said I ought first to become familiar with machinery in general. So he bought me a sewing machine. "Twice of the Day" films.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—What to do when a landlady, alleged to be dissatisfied with a rental reduction ordered by the district rent commission, takes out the furnace and refuses to install it or a new one until the tenant pays a higher rent is a problem put up today to the commission by Mrs. Emma E. Greenfield of 1308 Vermont Avenue.

According to information received by the commission, Fannie Downer, owner of the premises, had the old heating plant carted away, apparently with the intention of installing a new one. The new one, however, was placed in the yard, but the landlady is said to have refused to have it set up until her tenant agreed to pay more rent.

Under the Rent Act, it would be a violation of the law for Mrs. Greenfield to disregard the commission's rent determination, which fixed a $100 monthly rate, so she is in a quandary.

The commission did not make known what action could be taken by the tenant.

EXTENSION IS GRANTED FOR VALLEY ROAD

(By See Bureau)

MERCED (Merced Bee), Nov. 17.—Through John R. Graham, local director of the California State Automobile Association, announcement was made yesterday that a two-year extension has been granted for the expenditure of the $100,000 trust fund collected several years ago for the construction of the El Portal highway into Yosemite Valley.

The fund, collected through the sale of admission tickets to the Yosemite National Park, was to be used to the federal treasury in case the road was not completed by August, 1922. Efforts to have the state appropriate sufficient money to enable the construction of the highway to proceed have not been successful, but Graham and T. C. Cottrell, manager of the Good Roads Bureau of the association, in conference with federal officials, convinced them that success would be achieved and secured the desired extension.

Clara Phillips Saved By Compromise Verdict

By a "compromise verdict" Clara Phillips has escaped the death chair, having been found guilty of murder in the second degree, the penalty for which crime is ten years to life imprisonment. The foreman of the jury has admitted that they stood eight to four in favor of hanging, but were finally forced to compromise. They found that Clara Phillips beat Alberta Meadows to death with a hammer—under extreme provocation.

What that extreme provocation was, the evidence submitted at the trial nowhere clearly showed. The defense did not succeed in proving any "relations," such as would have furnished that provocation, between the slain woman and Armour Phillips. The only fact that did seem clearly proved in the whole weary, sordid transaction was that Alberta Meadows was murdered with wanton brutality by the woman on trial.

There is no moral doubt that Clara Phillips should have been found guilty of murder in the first degree and the death penalty imposed. That this did not happen is, however, not surprising, though it is in all respects regrettable.

Laying aside the exceptional brutality of this murder, murder in general is growing far too common. And it is growing so common largely because there is so small assurance of its ever being punished with proper severity. Especially is this so in the case of murders committed by women. There is supposed to be no sex in law, but the record of past murder trials shows pretty clearly that this rule does not apply to the emotions of jurors.

In this respect England furnishes an instructive contrast. Slow in some things, in justice she is fast and as sure as is humanly possible. Quick trials are the rule, quick sentences upon conviction, and an immediate execution of the sentence. A man or woman who commits murder in England knows that if found guilty hanging will follow as surely as night follows sunset.

The result is that unless some recently quoted figures were deliberately falsified, Great Britain averages fewer murders per year than the city of Chicago. And Chicago averages about the same per capita as any other large American city. It is not a nice record for us.

Some means should be found, however the expense and trouble involved, to make our judicial procedure simpler, briefer and more certain. The possibilities of appeal should be severely limited, and sentences should be strictly and rapidly carried out.

But, even with this accomplished, we should still have to reckon with the strange, top-sided sentimentalism which prefers turning a dangerous criminal loose upon society to performing its duty in the protection of that society.

Society has a moral right to do anything necessary for its own safety. It has, moreover, a moral duty to do everything in its power to discourage the repetition of such crimes as the murder of Alberta Meadows. Compromise in such matters is an inexcusable weakness.

Fresno Street Naming Opened To Test

Confusion in the numbering and the naming of various portions of Van Ness Avenue, brought to prominent attention by the petition of citizens for a change, may open the subject whether a general rectification of confusing numbering and naming of certain streets may not be advisable.

In the instance cited, Van Ness has three sets of numbers to correspond with three different names. South Van Ness, Van Ness and North Van Ness.

But Van Ness is only one of many streets and avenues whose change of name and numbering in numbering makes the location of an address like solving a picture-puzzle. To old residents of Fresno there may be little puzzlement, due to long acquaintance, but Fresno each year gathers to herself thousands of new residents whose chief plaint is their difficulty of finding streets and locating particular numbers.

If any change be found advisable, it should only come after thorough investigation, for in addition to rectifying some of the present confusion, care should be taken that none of the names so prominently identified with the history of Fresno be lost in the process.

The petition of those interested in straightening out the problem as concerning Van Ness might reasonably result in broadening the inquiry to determine if other streets and avenues do not suffer as much from the same confusion as is inflicted upon Van Ness.

THE HIGHBROW THEORY AND OUR LITERATURE

It is amusing to dream of the first literary gentleman from Mars, who, interstellar airplane service having been established, might land in America for a lecture tour.

He would immediately hear the word highbrow uttered with accents of scorn, and upon asking what this word means in English or Martian, would be told that it signifies a person who is devoted to the pursuit of the fine and beautiful in life and art. Whereupon, if the astronomer are right about the Martians being more highly developed than we, the visitor would probably take the next ship home in a state of mingled wonder and disappointment.

Now really there is something remarkable about the idea that any one who prefers poetry to business, music to engineering, painting to banking, is necessarily a weak-kneed nincompoop with a flowing hair and a lisp.

It is not only remarkable; it is new. In ancient times, in whatever country, poets, artists, men of learning, were generally respected, if not wholly understood. At the worst, they were thought possessed of devils and hence venerated; extremely though feared exclusively; at the best, as in ancient Ireland, the bard was the one person who might sit in the king's presence.

Even nowadays, a poet is sometimes revered, provided he has been dead long enough. But even then he does not come up to a ball player. And this reverence is generally tempered with the sort of patronizing pity one gives to a clever child.

In the face of these undeniable facts, people are constantly asking why we haven't great poets and composers and the like. The same person who will treat with liberal contempt anything so effeminate as talk about art will tell you in the next breath that writers and artists nowadays are pretty small potatoes compared with Shakespeare and Titian. And he fails completely to see any connection between the two remarks.

The truth is that, if our writers to-day are small potatoes, (which only time will prove), it is largely because there is small inducement for them to be anything else.

The fear of being called highbrow is often greater than the urge to be a real writer. The consciousness that if he succeeds in writing a great book he will still rank below prize fighters, movie stars and ball players in the public esteem, is always with the writer, and its effect is paralyzing.

The very capriciousness that makes it possible for a man to be an artist makes him at the same time extremely susceptible to hostility, or indifference, and where a Napoleon of finance can plunge ahead regardless of opposition, he is wrecked before he starts.

Henry David Thoreau once made the profound observation that "it takes two to tell the truth; one to speak it, the other to hear it." In the same way, art only comes about by co-operation between artist and public. He cannot speak the truth if there is no one to listen or value what he says.

JAPANESE FARMERS GAIN A STRANGLEHOLD IN WASHINGTON

The Sherman Anti-Trust Act does not apply to farmers. And it appears that in the state of Washington Japanese farmers have taken advantage of the exception to build up powerful organizations and gain a stranglehold on agricultural industries.

[This, in addition to the advantages they obtain through their low standards of living, as in California, is said in various localities and districts to have forced out American competition.]

For this reason it is proposed in our neighboring state that congress be asked to change the Sherman law so as to except from its operation only those farmers who are American citizens.

The chance appears highly desirable. And it should have good results in California as well as in the state of Washington.

It certainly is a reproach to the American steel industry, highly protected by the tariff, that the twelve-hour shift continues in the great steel mills, although since the war the three-shift system for twenty-four hours has become general in Europe, and now exists even in India and Japan; also in South Africa and Canada.

And it appears from a recent international investigation that a British concern, which has had in operation since 1887, reports that "a distinct gain to both the plant and the workers," with increased output of from 5 to 15 per cent. The twelve-hour shift not only is needlessly severe but may even be unprofitable, in the light of experience abroad.

When winter comes in America many a well-nourished heart nears then; yet no sympathetic hemorrhage may affect the pocket. But many of the same "bleeders" may be found rushing to contribute their dollars to the "pliable sufferers" in alien lands thousands of miles away.

THE BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Farmer Brown's Boy Goes to Look for the Young Fox

By THORNTON W. BURGESS
(Copyright, 1922, by T. W. Burgess)

The morning that the young Fox escaped from Farmer Brown's barayard where he had been a prisoner he was not missed at first. Farmer Brown's boy brought out his breakfast as usual, and set it down just outside the entrance to the box which was the home of the young Fox.

"The little scamp has escaped!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's boy.

Farmer Brown's boy failed to see his eyes. He didn't notice that there was no longer a chain attached to the post close to the entrance to the box. He had been so busy looking at the little scamp that he hadn't noticed that the chain was gone.

"Hello!" he exclaimed, in surprise. "I wonder if Master Fox is sick. Something must be wrong." He bent over to look inside the box and right then missed the chain. A hasty glance at the post to which he had been fastened showed him that the chain which had held it had been pulled out. He hurriedly looked inside the box. Of course, there was no young Fox there. He hadn't really expected there would be.

"The little scamp has escaped!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's boy. "He has run away. Yes, sir, he has run away. He must have gone before I came out this morning. Gracious, how I shall miss the little scamp! Yet I am rather glad that he is free again. I have felt for a long time that I ought to set him free. I just couldn't bear to think of putting him in. I had grown very fond of him and I had begun to think that he was rather fond of me. I do hope he will be smart enough to keep out of the way of hunters this fall."

Farmer Brown's boy started to go to the house to tell his mother that his pet had escaped. Half way there he stopped abruptly and a look of worry crept over his face. He had just thought of that chain. Of course, that chain was still fast to the collar which the young Fox wore. And Farmer Brown's boy knew at once that this would mean nothing but trouble, and perhaps serious harm, for the pet he had grown to love.

"This is bad, very bad!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's boy. "The chain is going to get the poor little fellow into all kinds of difficulties. Sooner or later it is bound to catch where he cannot get it free, and he will either choke to death or starve to death. I've got to find him. Yes, sir, I've got to find him. I couldn't be happy for a minute with the knowledge that that poor little fellow might be suffering through carelessness of mine. I wish I had discovered his escape early this morning. There is no knowing where he may be by this time. If anything happens to him because of that chain I'll never forgive myself. I'll run into the house and get a bite to eat, and then Bowser and I will go look for the poor, little chap."

So Farmer Brown's boy ate a hasty lunch, and then, whistling for Bowser, started out to look for the runaway young Fox.

The next story: "Farmer Brown's Boy Is Greatly Troubled."

Can You Tell?

By R. J. and A. W. BODMER

By R. J. and A. W. BODMER
No. 24—Who Originated Ice Cream
Frozen desserts were made in the days of Babylon. At that time, with the use of goat's milk, honey and fruits, which were placed in a copper bowl, packed in clay and buried in caverns and frozen they had a sort of ice cream which was served in the Babylonian Court.

Since that time through the different ages we find various methods of making frozen custards and puddings. Even in the days of Rome, we find frozen desserts served at dinner. The monks of Lutzerne in 1537 made what might be called an ice cream. The French in the early days made the first real ice cream which was called "ice cream" and in 1567 some ice cream was made in Dublin—the first ice cream to be commercially sold.

In the United States, George Washington's colored mammy, who cooked all his meals, made a dessert of strawberries and cream one day, which by accident she placed in ice in which there was salt. Her surprise when she came to serve it she had a dish of strawberry ice cream. Rather timidly she served it to George Washington, who became delighted with it. Upon the occasion of a dinner which he shortly thereafter gave in honor of General Lafayette, he introduced this novel dessert and started its present popularity. Dolly Madison was the first person to make chocolate ice cream in the United States.

The first commercial cream sold in the United States was made by a man named Pineda, and from that time on a struggle to build up the industry took place, for it takes a great many factories to supply the demand for ice cream in the United States. It is impossible to give a value, and it is estimated that more than three hundred million gallons of ice cream are consumed annually in the United States.

Merely Some Private Thoughts By C. K.

Mrs. MacSwiney, widow of Terence MacSwiney, the late Mayor of Cork—together with eight other women, all members of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic—was arrested in Washington.

The offense charged was that they violated a law of the District of Columbia in that they picketed themselves before the British Embassy, carrying banners demanding the release of Miss Mary MacSwiney, who is a prisoner of the Irish Free State; and that they refused to desist when ordered so to do by the police.

United States Commissioner George H. McDonald dismissed all the women holding the proof "did not measure up to the intent of the law."

It is probably not too much to assume that this dismissal was more because the defendants are women, and that the arrest was sufficient punishment for their first offense, than by reason of any lack of proof of guilt.

Mrs. MacSwiney carried a banner, bearing these words:

England murdered my husband, Terence MacSwiney. Will Americans permit the English Free State to murder his sister, Mary MacSwiney? Mrs. MacSwiney was not murdered. He starved himself to death. And his sister tried to follow his example.

Sensible people, no matter what their sentiment in favor of any cause, cannot approve such foolish and unnecessary self-murder.

And they will hold that if Mrs. MacSwiney, or anybody else, desires to awaken American sympathy for any issue or any person, it must be done within the line of the law.

Even beyond that. In the present case the action of these women was silly in the extreme.

The British Embassy at Washington had no more to do with the arrest, "over there" of Mary MacSwiney than had Mrs. Terence MacSwiney.

And it has no more power to release her. In fact, it is more powerless therein than is Mrs. MacSwiney; for she at least can petition and plead and awaken sympathy to that end—the Embassy could not, if it would.

Premier Mussolini has declared that Italy will pay what she owes to the United States. His language was:

Italy will never say she won't pay. Let us hope also the day never will come when Italy won't pay, even if she never happens to say she won't.

The stand taken by Mussolini is in strong contrast with that of our international "American" bankers, who hold, not that the Allies cannot pay, but that the United States should not let them.

The mole is less blind than those who cannot see through this scheme.

The sense of justice and patriotism of said financiers would not permit them to sanction the payment by "the Allies who saved us" of the more than $11,000,000,000 they owe the taxpayers of the United States.

But that same sense of justice and patriotism combine to demand that these Allies must pay these international bankers the several billion dollars they owe them.

The animating motion back of their generous sacrifice of other people's money is the fear that, if the Allies pay Uncle Sam, they will not be able to settle with said international bankers.

"Hence these tears!"

THE SARGASSO SEA

In the very heart of the Atlantic Ocean, midway between the Bahamas Islands and the Azores, lies the great body of water known as the Sargasso Sea, the business of whose depths rivals the business of the sunny skies above it. The waters of this sea are remarkable not only for their blue color but also for their high temperature and great transparency. Here a white disc about six feet in diameter was clearly seen with the naked eye when lowered 215 feet below the surface.

Over the surface of this sea, masses of seaweed are found floating at all times, and many myths have grown up about the great extent of these islands of seaweed. Until recently even the most careful publications stated that the Sargasso Sea was so thickly matted over with seaweed that vessels passing through were current of islands of seaweed many miles in extent.

It was thought, too, that the navigators of ancient times—the Phoenicians, Carthaginians and Greeks—were familiar with the Sargasso Sea. But recent researches show quite conclusively that it was Columbus who first traversed this sea on his voyage to America in 1492. And it is interesting to note that the great discoverer took trouble to record his observations in his log book.

The seaweed found floating in the Sargasso Sea is carried there by the Gulf Stream and other currents from the shores of the Caribbean Sea. This seaweed occurs in scattered patches up to one hundred feet in diameter, although patches covering an acre or a little more have been seen. But it has been definitely proven that there are no patches miles in extent, and that none is so dense as to interfere with a ship's movements.

The Sargasso Sea occupies a space of about two million square miles and its waters move slowly in a great whirl or eddy in the direction of the hands of a clock. The extent of this sea varies somewhat with the changes in the seasons, winds and currents; but in the main it has remained very much the same in extent and characteristics since Columbus first crossed it on his eventful journey in 1492.

LIGHT AND POWER

Editor The Bee—Sir:

The mist is clearing away since the electric and water rates came to a different conclusion on the Water and Power Act from that which they held November 7th.

The scare about the act creating a great political machine has been overdone by the machine user in this last election. The Southern Pacific in its political days, with its machine work in politics was a baby, compared with the banks and power companies, machine in force at this last election. And we have a feeling that some of the more calm thinkers on that side realize that it was very much overdone.

Any machine which can never be accomplished again. The discussions on the act have been of immense benefit to thoughtful people and have caused a strong feeling that our light and power charges should be in all respects considerably lower than in the past. The cry that it was an experiment was ridiculous when the general government had been carrying the cost of the act for years, and ever since the reclamation law was put into effect.

This service has built twenty-seven great works in seventeen western states. These works were and are for both irrigation and power, and are a huge success and cost only one hundred and fifty million.

All readers know that the great Roosevelt Dam is a marvelous success, it costing fifteen million dollars, and the power created at that work is paying off the debt created there, so by the time the total debt becomes due from the total debt holders—under it, the power alone will have paid off every dollar of its cost and the people living under it will own the works free of cost.

There are others. I have just received an account of how things work in Idaho. The Minidoka dam there, built on the Snake River, cost about $15,000,000, and was built for power and irrigation purposes. Some twenty-five mutual power companies have formed there under that project, contracted with Uncle Sam for their power, and run it themselves. There are 1,200 farmers under that system and they get their light and power at far cheaper rates than in California.

One of these, Rural Electric Company, distributing to seventy farms, charges as follows: 5 cents per kilowatt hour for the first twenty-five kilowatt hours per month, a cents per kilowatt hour for the next 25 kilowatt hours per month, and 1 cent per kilowatt hour for all over 100 kilowatt hours per month. Some of these farmers heat their homes with electricity and it costs them about $60 for the season.

It is well to remember that Idaho's climate is not like the California climate. But when we have such object lessons here in our own west as these two have mentioned, and there are many more, it won't carry long with the people to attempt to hoodwink them that it is only an experiment for this state to store its flood waters and use its power for irrigation and power, and at its actual cost.

There is a brighter day coming sure. Yours respectfully, JOHN H. WEAVER, November 16, 1922.

STOP IMMIGRATION

(From Tulare Register)

There seems to be a concerted movement on the part of certain interests to effect a repeal of the immigration law which permits entry of foreigners on the basis of 3 per cent of the number of each race in the United States in 1910.

The main argument used is that there is a shortage of labor in industries, particularly unskilled labor, and that under such conditions American industry cannot expand as rapidly as it should.

If the legislator could have his way about it there not only would not be a repeal, but the law would be even more stringent, and there might even be a suspension of immigration for about five years.
